THE SECRET HISTORY OF THE COURT OF ENGLAND

From the accession of George III to the death of George IV. Including, among other important matters, full particulars of the mysterious death of the Princess Charlotte and the murder of the Duke of Cumberland's valet, Sellis.

By THE RIGHT HONORABLE LADY ANNE HAMILTON. A reprint in full of the original edition, published in London in 1832. Two vols., octavo, with photogravure frontispieces, cloth . . . . . $ 6.00
The Same, half morocco 10.00

Lady Hamilton's Memoirs first appeared in 1832, two years after the death of George IV. They were immediately suppressed, presumably by the orders of the English Government, who probably feared the effect they would have on the public.

In her work Lady Hamilton passionately declares that there had been a conspiracy against her mistress, the unfortunate Princess Charlotte, and produces evidence that she was poisoned, with the knowledge, if not by the direct connivance, of certain of the royal family. The rest of the Memoirs is a scathing arraignment of the morality of the Court and an intimate history of its intrigues, political and social.

CELEBRATED CRIMES OF THE RUSSIAN COURT.

Translated from the French of Alexandre Dumas by Mikael Gortshakov.

One volume, cloth decorative, profusely illustrated $3.00
The Same, half morocco 5.00

"Celebrated Crimes of the Russian Court" gives an absorbing account of the social and political corruption of the court that has existed for many centuries.

Such historical crimes and atrocities as those of the rule of Ivan the Terrible, the massacre of the Strelitz Guard by Peter the Great, the seizure of the throne by Catherine II., and the sanguinary Revolution of 1825 are related with vividness and force by the great Dumas.

"The translation is excellent, and the stories are told with the unfailing romantic charm that marks the longer and better known stories of Dumas." — Chicago Record-Herald.

"The reader will gain from this book many powerful impressions of the secrets of court life, of the evils of an absolute autocracy and its inevitable degeneration. This work is now translated into English for the first time.

"Needless to say the book is alive with interest. Dumas's readers are certain of entertainment. The book is well worth while, and there is not a dull page in it." — Brooklyn Eagle.

ODES FROM THE DIVAN OF HAFIZ.

By Richard LeGallienne, author of "The Quest of the Golden Girl," etc.

Richard LeGallienne

One volume, tall 12mo, decorative boards, with paper label $2.00
The Same, Persian ooze leather, decorative . . 4.00

Mr. Richard LeGallienne's rendering of "The Odes of Hafiz," as in the case of his paraphrase of Omar Khayyam, has been made from literal prose versions of the poet, supplemented by his own fancy. While he has kept as closely as he deems necessary to his original, his aim, as before, has been to make English poetry, rather than a joyless shadow of a great classic. He offers this rendering in the first place as poetry, in the second as translation; but at the same time his aim has been, as faithfully as in him lies, truly to interpret the great Persian poet to English readers, so that the total result of his endeavor is really — if not literally — Hafiz.

"Of all the renderings of the Odes of Hafiz which we have seen, Mr. LeGallienne's is by all odds the best adapted to give the English reader an adequate idea of the poetry of Hafiz." — Literary Digest.

By arrangement with Mr. LeGallienne, we also are able to offer a few copies of the limited de luxe editions, privately printed by Mr. LeGallienne, namely:

"Surely you have read 'Pollyanna, the Glad Book,' or will do so at the earliest opportunity.

"All unconsciously it teaches a simple, wholesome lesson, which, if followed, would quickly transform this old world as a place to live in." — Ex-Postmaster General John Wanamaker.

THE POLLYANNA CALENDAR FOR 1915.

Compiled by Eleanor H. Porter.

Decorated and printed in colors, boxed . . . Net $1.00; carriage paid $1.15

"When you read Pollyanna you registered a resolve that henceforth and forever you would play the 'Glad Game' every day of your life. And you meant it, too, but sometimes the sky is gray and you forget about the little girl who invented the great game and you waver in your resolve. For just such backsliders as you a perpetual reminder has been evolved. It is a Pollyanna Calendar for you to hang on the wall of your room, and the first thing when you get up in the morning you can see Pollyanna's beloved face, and if it happens to be the first week in February, for instance, you will be reminded that 'When you're hunting for glad things you sort of forget the other kind.' There is a like message of cheer on every page, and the calendar is beautifully illustrated." — Kansas City Star.

THE TURN OF THE TIDE.

Cloth decorative, illustrated $1.25

"A charming bit of fiction, sweet and sympathetic. The fortunes of the little heroine, Margaret, hold the reader with interest from the curiosity-provoking beginning to the happy close. There are several pathetic scenes in which child labor figures, but the tone of the book on the whole is cheerful, and in the life of Margaret is exemplified what heredity can and will do." — Baptist Teacher, Boston.

History

A HISTORY OF CANADA.

Large 8vo, cloth, gilt top . . . . . $2.00 net. Postpaid, $2.18

No other living writer is so equipped for an ideal history of Canada as Professor Roberts, who unites profound scholarship, balanced judgment, rich and graceful style, and a patriotic love for the land of his birth.

Noble is the word to characterize this new and obviously just history of the British Dominion in North America. A stimulating breeze of freshness seems to blow through it. We find the influence of Parkman, which is as it should be, but the point of view is distinct and modern.

This book is of particular interest to Americans for its independent treatment of the many questions in dispute between the two countries, from the Revolution to the present. With its maps, charts, appendices, giving the British and Imperial acts in full, and with its compactness of presentation and its fine perspective, it is of equal value for the citizen's library or a university text.

NOVELS OF GABRIELE D'ANNUNZIO

Signor d'Annunzio is known throughout the world as a poet and a dramatist, but above all as a novelist, for it is in his novels that he is at his best. In poetic thought and graceful expression he has few equals among the writers of the day.

He is engaged on a most ambitious work — nothing less than the writing of nine novels which cover the whole field of human sentiment. This work he has divided into three trilogies, and five of the nine books have been published. It is to be regretted that other labors have interrupted the completion of the series.

"This book is realistic. Some say that it is brutally so. But the realism is that of Flaubert, and not of Zola. There is no plain speaking for the sake of plain speaking. Every detail is justified in the fact that it illuminates either the motives or the actions of the man and woman who here stand revealed. It is deadly true. The author holds the mirror up to nature, and the reader, as he sees his own experiences duplicated in passage after passage, has something of the same sensation as all of us know on the first reading of George Meredith's 'Egoist.' Reading these pages is like being out in the country on a dark night in a storm. Suddenly a flash of lightning comes and every detail of your surroundings is revealed." — Review of "The Triumph of Death" in the New York Evening Sun.

A witty book of clever people, new scenes and real life affairs.

"When we state that Lilian Bell's name is on the title page of a book, the reader will need no further assurance that the book is an entertaining one. Her work is always sweet and sparkling, refreshing and modern." — Nashville American.

Typical, characteristic, Lilian Bell sketches, bright, breezy, amusing, and philosophic." — Chicago Record-Herald.

WORKS OF ANNIE FELLOWS JOHNSTON

TRAVELERS FIVE: ALONG LIFE'S HIGHWAY.

With an Introduction by Bliss Carman.

12mo, cloth, decorative cover, with a frontispiece in full color from a painting by E. H. Garrett . . . $1.25

"The author causes one to give pause and 'look on the world with more understanding,' as Mr. Carman says." — Boston Budget and Beacon.

"Mrs. Johnston broadens her reputation with this book so rich in the significance of common things." — Boston Advertiser.

"The author hints at the many things to be learned from watching the 'pass;' the thoughtful reader will carry away more than one of those inspiring impressions." — Baltimore Sun.

"Strong indeed must be the book that would not be overshadowed by so beautiful and perfect a gem of literary excellence as Bliss Carman's foreword to 'Travelers Five: Along Life's Highway,' whom Mrs. Annie Fellows Johnston has summoned from among the multitude of wayfarers. The delicate imagery of Carman's commentary, its dulcet sound and its note of what seems extravagant praise tempt the reader to lay down the book lest the spell be broken, lest the promise be greater than the fulfillment. But such is not the case. Mrs. Johnston's pictures are of the character that cause the mind to grow gravely meditative, the eyes to shine with tender mist, the heart strings to stir to strange, sweet music of human sympathy, and, as Carman puts it, to 'sit as at a pleasant window' and 'watch the pass' of the great highway." — S. T. Clover, in the Graphic Magazine, Los Angeles, Cal.

ASA HOLMES; Or, At the Cross-Roads. A Sketch of Country Life and Country Humor.

"'Asa Holmes; or, At the Cross-Roads' is the most delightful, most sympathetic and wholesome book that has been published in a long while. The lovable, cheerful, touching incidents, the descriptions of persons and things, are wonderfully true to nature." — Boston Times.

"It is a sweet little story winding leisurely along like a meadow brook; and the character of the old miller, with his unvarying optimism, is one whose acquaintance is well worth making. No one need hesitate to recommend this admirable little book." — Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

"The book is as mellow and as ripe as the old man who lends his name to it." — Detroit Free Press.

"The book is well worth reading for its old-time pictures, its humor and its uncommon sense." — Chicago Tribune.

"It leaves one tenderer, more hopeful, more human. From cover to cover it is brimful of happy, healthy philosophy." — Public Opinion.

"Nobody will regret acquaintance with Asa Holmes save those readers who do not form it." — New York World.

"The man or woman who has passed early days in village places and among village folk will appreciate this little book — so also will the reader who has been brought up amid city surroundings. The charm of the village, of old homes, old resorts, old friends, is a charm that is ever one of the last to fade, and without doubt the author has given us some clear revelation of it." — Springfield Republican.

"This volume deserves a high place in its series. It tells of conditions a generation later than those of the earlier volumes. It is full of activity and adventure, of the hardihood and heroism which marked the sturdy pioneers of those stirring times. No boy will complain of its being tame, or fail to surrender to the spell of the narrative of thrilling experiences." — Christian World, Cleveland, O.

The stories are mainly new copyrighted fiction, including the works of such engaging writers as Mrs. Annie Fellows Johnston, whose "Little Colonel" books have attained a favor scarcely second to Miss Alcott's "Little Women," Miss Edith Robinson, whose stories of child-life in Puritan days have won such popularity, and Miss Frances Margaret Fox, whose outdoor stories of children and birds and the wild dooryard creatures have all the charm of reality. On the other hand, the older favorites have not been neglected; and there is a well-chosen list of such child-classics as the stories of John Ruskin, Miss Mulock, and Ouida.

POLLYANNA GROWS UP

Or, THE SECOND GLAD BOOK

Trade Mark

By Eleanor H. Porter

Author of "Pollyanna, The GLAD Book," "The Billy Books," "Cross Currents," "The Turn of the Tide," etc.

With eight illustrations by H. Weston Taylor, decorative jacket. Net, $1.25; carriage paid, $1.40

When Eleanor H. Porter wrote her wonderful story of POLLYANNA and the glad game she created an absolutely new character in American fiction. Under the inspiration of POLLYANNA, who was the sunniest and most delightful of optimists, people everywhere began to play the glad game — the game that brings contentment wherever it is played. When the story of POLLYANNA told in The GLAD Book was ended a great cry of regret for the vanishing "glad girl" went up all over this country — and other countries, too. Now POLLYANNA appears again, just as sweet and joyous-hearted, more grown up and more lovable.

The new story opens with POLLYANNA still a little girl, but she is in Boston amid a brand new environment and among new incidents and new experiences. The latter half of the tale deals with her romance, for, of course, there is a Prince Charming in the background.

"Take away frowns! Draw up the window shades! Put down the worries! Stop fidgeting and disagreeing and grumbling! Cheer up everybody! POLLYANNA has come back!" — Christian Herald.

"Pollyanna's girlhood and maidenhood are just as cheery, helpful and actively optimistic as her childhood, narrated in the first GLAD BOOK was glad. She simply twines the tendrils of her affections about the reader's heart and suffuses his soul with the glorious sunshine of her nature. POLLYANNA GROWN UP is really irresistible." — Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"If the POLLYANNA books are read with the sympathetic comprehension they deserve, many a child's life will be made happier because its own grown-ups understand it a little better. And many a grown up will again remember what a good thing it is to 'love folks.' The fact that the POLLYANNA books are and long will be popular is a matter of congratulation." — The Bookman.

"To the list of those who have done something to make the world more joyous must be added the names of POLLYANNA and Eleanor H. Porter." — Boston Transcript.

"Dear little POLLYANNA with her gospel of just being glad! I wish that she might encircle the globe with her rainbow of gladness!" — Annie Fellows Johnston, author of the "Little Colonel Series," etc.

"POLLYANNA is the 'gladdest' book that was ever written. It is of more real value than any thousand sermons to which I have ever listened." — Literary Editor of the Passaic Daily News.

FICTION

The third volume in the ANNE trilogy

ANNE OF THE ISLAND

A sequel to "Anne of Green Gables" and "Anne of Avonlea"

By L. M. Montgomery

Author also of "The Story Girl," "The Golden Road," etc.

Illustrated by H. Weston Taylor, cloth 12mo, decorative jacket, net $1.25; carriage paid, $1.40

THE "irresistible" Anne Shirley of Green Gables and Avonlea fame — the very Anne whom Mark Twain called "the dearest and most moving and delightful child of fiction" — has come back; this time in a story which tells of her life at Redmond College, with its new friendships and interests; of the long pleasant summer vacations spent "back home" with Marilla and the twins and the simple-hearted folk of the Island; and last of all of the romance which creeps into her life "like an old friend through quiet ways." This is a story which will be read eagerly because it is true and happy and full of a clear, kind, wholesome, northern simplicity and is, moreover, decidedly "Anne-ish."

"Here are standards which have not been confused or broken. Stalwart character, strength of will, intellectual and moral soundness, goodwill, gayety, common sense and happiness are rated simply as the best things in life. Laughter and happiness and health are accompaniment of good life which is normal life. Something like this is the interpretation of Miss Montgomery's work as a story writer, which is at the same time an interpretation of her wonderful Island," writes Miss Marjorie MacMurchy in the Book News Monthly.

THE CRIMSON GONDOLA

By Nathan Gallizier

Author of "Castel del Monte," "The Sorceress of Rome," "The Court of Lucifer," "The Hill of Venus," etc.

Illustrated in full color, by Edmund H. Garrett, cloth 12mo, net, $1.35; carriage paid, $1.50

THE setting of this new romance is at the time of the great tension between Venice and Constantinople, which culminated in the fourth Crusade and the Latin conquest of Constantinople.

The story concerns itself with the fortunes and adventures of Audran de Vere while in Constantinople — the most romantic city in the world — on a mission to take the Lady Eleanor of Montferrat from the witches' cauldron of the Greek capital. Audran's infatuation for the beautiful Empress Euphrosyne, which creates an immediate breach between himself and the object of his mission; the strife of the factions; the rivalry between the Greek Empress and the Lady of Montferrat; the intrigues of John the Armenian, who aspires to the hand of Euphrosyne and the throne; the scenes in the crypts of the Tower of Angelus, in the Vampire Castle at Hadrianople, and in the palace of the Armenian, where Eleanor is held captive; the storming of Constantinople by the Venetians; the tragic fate of Euphrosyne and the Armenian; and the appearance of a Crimson Gondola — the funeral barge of Venice — in the channel of the Golden Horn are marked incidents of this compelling story.

"The author displays many of the talents that made Scott famous." — The Index.

WAR EXTRA! WAR EXTRA! LONDON CAPTURED BY THE GERMANS!

THE MESSAGE

By A. J. Dawson

Cloth decorative with four illustrations in color by H. M. Brock, net, $1.25; carriage paid, $1.40

In this striking story the author forecasts the mighty struggle now being enacted in the war caldron of Europe. The plot involves a German invasion of England and the capture of London by the Kaiser's army, and finally — the ultimate result of the war — an alliance between England and America. The character drawing is unusually keen and good, and the romance of Dick Mordan and the engaging girl from Australia — the Red Cross nurse — competes with the stirring war scenes for the reader's interest.

The following list of Chapter Titles gives an idea of the scope of this fine story forecasting the present war.

THE PROVING OF VIRGINIA

A sequel to "The Fiddling Girl"

By Daisy Rhodes Campbell

Illustrated. Cloth, net, $1.25; carriage paid, $1.40

THIS new story continues the career of Virginia Hammond and takes "The Fiddling Girl" through three years of college life, at the end of which time she expects to go abroad to study music under a famous violin teacher. When Virginia is about to graduate from college and plans are made for the wonderful life in Paris, a sudden lessening of her wealthy aunt's income prevents the realization of Virginia's hopes. But this disappointment does not dampen her ambition to study abroad and she sets to work in characteristic fashion to obtain the necessary funds.

An advance opinion on the manuscript: "Just a line to tell you that the book is finished. It is great! I have been so interested in it! After I started reading the story I couldn't put it down until it was finished. I think THE PROVING OF VIRGINIA far ahead of THE FIDDLING GIRL — and that certainly was a charming and uplift story — which is saying much for the new book."

"As bright and fresh and sparkling as the June sunshine." — The Midwestern.

"I am carried away with your book. I can't lay it down. You call it only a girls' book. It is for everybody. In places I couldn't see for tears. There's so much to it outside the story. It is a fine book. I don't know when I have enjoyed one so much." — Mr. Louis Valentine in a letter to the author.

"A delightful story told in a charming manner. The Page Company does a real service indeed in the publication of so many of these excellent stories for young people." — Zion's Herald, Boston.

"A thoroughly enjoyable tale, written in a delightful vein of sympathetic comprehension." — Boston Herald.

FICTION FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

THE PRINCESS AND THE CLAN

By Margaret R. Piper

Author of "Sylvia's Experiment, The Cheerful Book"
Trade Mark

Illustrated by John Goss, cloth, 12mo, $1.50

THIS is a delightful story for young and old people, wholesome and uplifting. The "Clan" is composed of five fun-loving boys, and the Princess is a high-spirited and lovable young lady — Elizabeth Page — who is rescued from a life of loneliness by the mother of the "Clan." She is unanimously elected a full-fledged member of the "Clan" and participator in all their doings. They vacation together, attend matinees and school parties as one, always in a genial, whole-souled way, radiating good spirits, frankness and youthful brilliancy.

The chief charm of the story lies in its simplicity. It is written in a style that will appeal to the interest of all readers — old as well as young — if they are "young of heart."

The Press has commented on "Sylvia's Experiment, The Cheerful Book" as follows:

"It has all the merits of a bright, clever style with plenty of action and humor." — Western Trade Journal, Chicago.

FICTION FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

A new volume in the Hadley Hall Series

ALMA'S SENIOR YEAR

A sequel to "Alma at Hadley Hall," "Alma's Sophomore Year," "Alma's Junior Year"

By Louise M. Breitenbach

Illustrated by John Goss, cloth, 12mo, $1.50

THIS is the fourth volume of the "Hadley Hall Series" and will prove welcome to the thousands of girl readers who have come to regard Alma Peabody and Hadley Hall as real and who have followed with interest the adventures of the charming young heroine through her school days at Hadley Hall. Many of the girls in the new story are recognized as old friends, but new ones are introduced and prove as interesting as those who have been dropped out or are no longer prominent. Alma is, of course, the leading character. She possesses all the lovable charms that endeared her to former friends and certainly fulfills her ambition that she should be a "Summa cum laude senior."

"Incident abounds in all of Miss Breitenbach's stories and a healthy, natural atmosphere breathes from every chapter." — Boston Transcript.

"Miss Breitenbach shows in all her books a keen understanding of girls, the contrasts in temperaments and character, and natural effect of boarding-school life, together with a full knowledge of the pleasures and trials imperative to school discipline." — Detroit Tribune.

"Miss Breitenbach is to be congratulated on having written such an appealing book for girls, and the girls are to be congratulated on having the privilege of reading it." — The Detroit Free Press.

"The author merits the thanks of all mothers of girls for writing this series, and the girl who is fortunate enough to read the Hadley Hall Series will gain much." — New York Sun.

FICTION FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

A new volume in the YOUNG PIONEER SERIES

THE PIONEER BOYS OF THE YELLOWSTONE

Or, LOST IN THE LAND OF WONDERS

Uniform with "The Pioneer Boys of the Ohio," "The Pioneer Boys on the Great Lakes," "The Pioneer Boys of the Missouri," etc.

By Harrison Adams

Illustrated, cloth 12mo, $1.25

As are the previous volumes in the Young Pioneer Series, this is a wholesome story with plenty of lively adventure and dashing romance, all of which is well told and originally presented. There isn't a boy alive whose heart will not be stirred by the reading of this new story telling of the adventures of the Pioneer Boys with the Lewis and Clarke expedition; of how they became separated from the rest of the party and were lost in the "land of wonders," or what is now known as the Yellowstone Park. The story will prove no less interesting to grown-ups who appreciate a "breath of youth" wafted into a prosaic life.

"For the boy who has red blood in his veins and who must have stirring and vigorous mental pabulum, no better books could be secured because they are true to the times and circumstances and contain just enough history to give stability." — Hartford Post.

"Such books as these are an admirable means of stimulating among the young Americans of to-day interest in the story of their pioneer ancestors and the early days of the Republic." — Vogue.

TRAVEL AND DESCRIPTION

A new volume in the SEE AMERICA FIRST SERIES

ON SUNSET HIGHWAYS

A Book of Motor Rambles in California

By Thomas D. Murphy

Member Automobile Club of America and Automobile Club of Southern California, and author of "British Highways and Byways from a Motor Car," "Three Wonderlands of the American West," etc.

With 16 illustrations in color from original paintings, mainly by California artists, and 40 duogravures from photographs. Also the Automobile Club of Southern California road map of the state of California. Boxed, net, $3.00; carriage paid, $3.20

The same, three-quarters morocco, net, $6.00; carriage paid, $6.20

By motor car — that ideal means of travel that carries one swiftly along broad highways or into deep recesses of hill and valley, to unfrequented nooks along the seashore, and along the slopes to mountain tops — the reader is taken not through the war torn roads of Europe, but through the romantic and peaceful highways and byways of California, our own Sunset Land.

The writing of a motoring guide book is a difficult matter, and the majority are either obviously crammed with information and, accordingly, unreadable, or else are written in a personal manner irritating to the reader. It is no easy task to combine road information, historical facts, and interesting legends, in such a manner that the dry sections are not numerous enough to make the book wearisome and the lighter sections not so drawn out as to make the reading matter trivial. Mr. Murphy is one of the few authors who can manage successfully the writing of an alluring book of motor travel.

"Every loyal American should have a copy of this revelation in American scenery, this proof that he who has not seen America first has little business abroad, and is unequipped for comparisons." — Chicago Banker.

TRAVEL AND DESCRIPTION

A new volume in the popular SPELL SERIES

THE SPELL OF SOUTHERN SHORES

Or, FROM SEA TO SEA IN ITALY

By Caroline Atwater Mason

Author of "The Spell of France," "The Spell of Italy," etc.

With many illustrations in color and in duogravure, boxed, net, $2.50; carriage paid, $2.70

The same, three-quarters morocco, boxed, net, $5.00; carriage paid, $5.20

A FEW years ago a volume of Italian travel (THE SPELL OF ITALY, perhaps the most successful travel book in recent years, with already eight printings to its credit) closed thus:

"Venice awaits us and we cannot delay over long to see it and after it that unknown east shore, which borders the Adriatic. And can we leave Italy with Sicily yet unvisited, Sicily, 'the key to all?'"

The time seems now fully come to record the fulfilment of purposes thus expressed. THE SPELL OF SOUTHERN SHORES may, therefore, be regarded as a sequel to THE SPELL OF ITALY, containing as it does the narrative of longer and later visits, by the author, to Italian shores. From the Ligurian Riviera to Ionian and Sicilian Seas and thence to the Adriatic is the course of the journey here described in Mrs. Mason's inimitable charming style, with many loiterings for exploring and study along the way.

"One of the best things about Mrs. Mason's books is that she selects interesting places and then stays long enough to give her readers something worth while." — Edwin L. Shuman in the Chicago Herald.

TRAVEL AND DESCRIPTION

A second new volume in the popular SPELL SERIES

THE SPELL OF FLANDERS

The Story of a Twentieth-Century Pilgrimage in a Sixteenth Century Land Just Before the Outbreak of the Great War

By Edward Neville Vose

Uniform with "The Spell of Japan," "The Spell of Spain," etc.
With many illustrations in color and in duogravure, boxed, net, $2.50; carriage paid, $2.70
The same, three-quarters morocco, boxed, net, $5.00; carriage paid, $5.20

THIS new addition to the SPELL SERIES is the record of a tour through the beautiful old Flemish towns of Northern Belgium, beginning in May and ending early in July of the summer of 1914. The assassination of the Austrian Arch-Duke Ferdinand and his wife at Sarajevo took place while the author was viewing the medieval houses and churches of Ghent and Audenaerde, but in the many discussions of that event to which Mr. Vose listened in Belgium, there was no whisper of that awful fate which the march of events was so soon to bring upon one of the most charming, peaceful and happy countries in the world.

Many of the graphic descriptions in THE SPELL OF FLANDERS were written in or about the towns described and within a day or so after the visit narrated above. Since the accounts have been written many of the very towns have been swept by shot and shell, have been taken and retaken by hostile armies, and have formed the stage upon which some of the direst tragedies of the world's greatest and most terrible war have been enacted, which fact, of course, gives a permanent interest and value to Mr. Vose's book.

As a painting of some famous city as it appeared many years or centuries ago is of the utmost historical interest, so do Mr. Vose's word pictures of Flemish towns and monuments, that have since been wholly or partially destroyed, help the reader to recall the glories "of gallant little Belgium" that have passed away.

TRAVEL AND DESCRIPTION

A third new volume in the popular SPELL SERIES

THE SPELL OF THE HOLY LAND

By Archie Bell

Uniform with "The Spell of Flanders," "The Spell of Southern Shores," etc.

With many illustrations in color and in duogravure, boxed, net, $2.50; carriage paid, $2.70

The same, three-quarters morocco, net, $5.00; carriage paid, $5.20

In this volume, the author conducts the reader on a journey from Port Said in the southern part of Palestine, to Bethlehem and Nazareth, into the Garden of Gethsemane, through the Judean wilderness and over the Galilean hills to Damascus, in the northern part of the land made holy to three religions of the world.

Jericho! The River Jordan! The Mount of Olives! Bethany! What a fascination in the sound of these world-old names! Mr. Bell graphically pictures the country and historic monuments of the Holy Land, tells of their connection with biblical events and describes as well the people, conditions and customs that prevail in present day Asia Minor.

We catch the care-free and indolent spirit of the Orient, and as one turns the pages the "spell" of the Holy Land is upon him, when the author brings back to memory the swirling Jordan and the chiming bells of Jerusalem, "the Golden."

"Men and women of every age who would know the Old World intimately and well can do nothing better than to read this series of travel books, because they are accurate, have been written by men and women who have absorbed the very atmosphere of the countries described and been brought to an enthusiasm worthy and elevating because the things discussed are worth the attention of all who would be well informed." — Hartford (Conn.) Sunday Post.

TRAVEL AND DESCRIPTION

A fourth new volume in the popular SPELL SERIES

THE SPELL OF BELGIUM

By Isabel Anderson

Author of "The Spell of Japan," etc.

Uniform with "The Spell of Japan," "The Spell of Italy," etc.

With many illustrations in color and in duogravure, boxed, net, $2.50; carriage paid, $2.70

The same, three-quarters morocco, boxed, net, $5.00; carriage paid, $5.20

As the wife of the American Minister, Mrs. Anderson had special opportunities for observation and for securing information; and this, joined to a natural talent for description, has enabled her to produce in THE SPELL OF BELGIUM a volume of absorbing interest.

Mrs. Anderson's book is most timely, and includes a concise survey of the history of the Southern Netherlands from the days of Cæsar to the accession of Albert; an excellent description of the industrial conditions and co-operative movement; a sympathetic review of art and literature; an interesting chapter on tapestries; a brief resume of the charming old legends handed down from generation to generation; a timely synopsis of the present war, including letters from the front; and a valuable appendix dealing with American Relief Work.

The text is supplemented by numerous unusual illustrations in color and black and white, representing quaint places, buildings that have been destroyed, and many characteristic scenes in "gallant little Belgium."

This book in conjunction with Mr. Vose's SPELL OF FLANDERS gives the complete story of "The Belgium that was."

KULTUR CARTOONS

By Will Dyson

With a Foreword by H. G. Wells. Net, $1.00; carriage paid, $1.10

A CLEAR idea of these brilliant and striking cartoons may be gained from the Editor's note, which is as follows:

"To pierce with the pencil of the caricaturist to the . . . core of the Prussian Idea and to illuminate the criminal vanity of its pretensions has been the object of Mr. Dyson in this collection of cartoons. He castigates alike the master and the pupil in this School of Blood and Iron — the Professor and the Emperor — attacking the one for his gluttonous Doctrine of Power, and the other for his willingness to be that doctrine's tragic dupe. He attempts with his pencil the necessary medical function that Europe is to-day performing with a million bayonets — the pricking of the swollen pent-house vanity of Germany. A contribution to the art of the War by an artist and a socialist, who sees in the forces operating in contemporary Germany a menace to the past, to the present, and to the future of Europe — to her Traditions, which are of her past — to her Spirit, which is of the present — and to her Hopes, which are of the future."

The cartoons include

German Icarus, or Place in the Sun
The Goose Step, or the March of Civilization
"Alone with His God"
"Give Him His Due"
The Prussian Circe
Wonders of Science

The Old Testament Story: Told to the Young.

By Gladys Davidson, author of "Stories from the Operas." 8vo, cloth. $2.00 net

The outstanding feature of this volume which catches and delights the eye at once is the manner in which it is illustrated.

But the illustrations, after all, are of minor importance in books of this type. The author says in her preface, "I have endeavored to present the stories and incidents in accordance with the views of those modern scholars who regard and teach the Bible from a wide and reasonable standpoint; and at the same time . . . to preserve the religious character and beauty of these wonderful stories of old time, and to set them forth with love and reverence."

Rebus Books for Little Folks

Each of the little books possesses the attractions of a story, game, picture-book, and puzzle, all in one. The short narratives are related by means of words and rebus illustrations, which alternate cleverly on the page and attract and please the eye of the child, as well as impart valuable information. The charming little pictures are numerous and extremely well drawn. They form a delightful commentary on the text, and aid mother or governess in teaching the little ones to read. The stories themselves deal with pet animals in their relation to children, and to inculcate lessons of kindness and gentleness to the brute creation. Printed on heavy paper, oblong quarto. Cloth.

Our Nursery Rhyme Book.

A Book Edited by Children for Children.

Selected by Letty and Frank Littlewood, with a Preface by S. R. Littlewood, and twelve colored and numerous black and white illustrations by Honor C. Appleton.

A welcome novelty in the production of books for children. The joint editors' selection should be the most authoritative yet published, for it is a perfect reflection of children's likes and dislikes. Where there are two versions of the same story, the one chosen for inclusion in the volume is that which makes the most earnest appeal to the child mind. This is assured by the fact that the collaborators are children themselves.

Letty is three and Frank six, and, as the writer of the preface explains, they have simply chosen the rhymes they like best. They have altered words and lines to suit themselves, and the result is that the book is really and truly a children's book.

The Minute Boys of Yorktown

The experiences and adventures of Fitz Roy Hamilton and Saul Ogden during these stirring times are most interestingly described by the author.

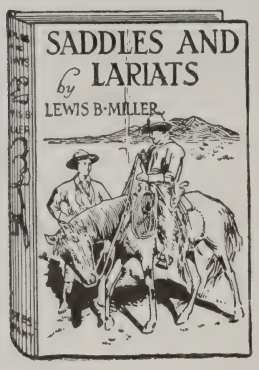
Pioneer Stories by Lewis B. Miller

Saddles and Lariats



By Lewis B. Miller, the author of " A Crooked Trail " and " The White River Raft." Illustrated by J. W. F. Kennedy.

The immediate success of Mr. Miller's two previous books fully warrants the publication of the third one of a similar nature. Mr. Miller excels in descriptions of the old West and Southwest, which is fast becoming a thing of the past. His stories are all founded on fact, and are, in greater part, vivid descriptions of actual occurrences. " Saddles and Lariats " is the account of an attempt to take a big drove of Longhorns from Texas to California back in the 50's, and is largely true. Aside from its story interest, it has to do with a peculiar phase of American history, and should have considerable historical value.

Cloth, 12mo. $1.25

The Crooked Trail.

By Lewis B. Miller, author of " The White River Raft." Illustrated by J. W. F. Kennedy.

A thrilling narrative of the vigorous stirring life in that period of the history of Texas which immediately followed that of the pioneers. The Rangers, aided by hunger, after the buffalo had been destroyed, had driven the savages on to the reservations. Next, in this immense wild region, the few hardy settlers struggled with outlaws and cattle thieves. It was a time filled with excitement and adventure which the author neglects no opportunity to portray in this tale. Illustrated by J. W. F. Kennedy. Cloth. Large 12mo. $1.25

The White River Raft.

By Lewis B. Miller.

The scene of this stirring tale is laid in the Mississippi Valley more than half a century ago, when the river steamer, flatboats and rafts were the principal means of communication throughout that section. The country was new and scantily settled and the mighty river was not only the main highway through which people had to travel, but also sheltered swarms of pirates and other lawless folk whose activities, together with the perils of storm and flood, often tried the courage and endurance of the voyager. The author does not depend upon superhuman feats or improbable events, finding the stern realities of the time replete with excitement and adventure. It is as described the largely true story of a logging trip into the flooded forests of Arkansas, followed by an eventful raft voyage down the great river to New Orleans. Illustrated by J. W. F. Kennedy. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25

A Scout's Story.

By Owen Rhoscomyl, author of " Battlement and Tower," " The White Rose of Arno," etc.

A thrilling narrative of savage warfare and treasure hunting in Patagonia, by an author noted for his power and imagination. Illustrated, cloth, 12mo. $1.25

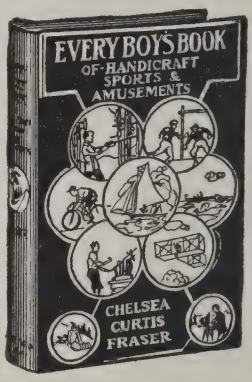
*Every Boy's Book of Handicraft, Sports and Amusements

By Chelsea Curtis Fraser.



A companion book to our well-known "Three Hundred Things a Bright Girl Can Do." This work covers the whole range so far as is possible of the best active interests of the typical boy, anywhere between the ages of ten and twenty.

It is a modern book for a modern boy. From every subject treated, the obsolete and out-of-date has been excluded and the most approved present-day methods, plans and information substituted. New ideas for creating and doing things, the product of the most ingenious minds, are given.

It is, in fact, a trustworthy guide and counsellor to the best things of youthful endeavor of the past as well as the present, and where possible, it takes a dip into the future.

The information and plans given have all been judiciously selected with fine regard to simplicity, thoroughness, utility and safety. Many of the articles will be found to fit admirably with the boy's studies and activities and tend to promote interest in work as well as play. The book is, above all, practical. Its rules and plans are, in all cases, derived from authoritative sources, and no effort or expense has been spared to secure the best. Most of the handicraft problems are the outcome of the author's personal experience in shop and factory, including a service of several years as a Government inspector of furniture.

The following partial list of general chapter headings indicates the wide scope of the volume. The text is copiously illustrated with over 700 drawings.

Talbot's Angles.

A charming romance of Southern life. TALBOT'S ANGLES is a beautiful old estate located on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. Another claimant for the property appearing on the scene complicates matters still more. The untangling of this mixed-up condition of affairs, together with the description of this extremely interesting country with its quaint houses filled with beautiful old furniture and silver, its hospitable hostesses, and genuine old mammies, make an extremely interesting story.

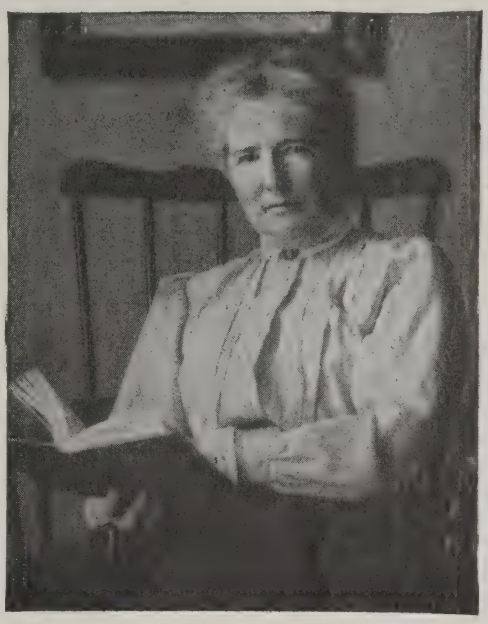
Fiction by Laura E. Richards

*Miss Jimmy



No author knows New England so thoroughly as Mrs. Richards, and can depict life in Yankee Land so graphically and clearly. All her stories have a setting that portrays it accurately.

Miss Jimmy is a story laid down in Maine, where the true type of the Yankee is found. It is a great deal to claim that never before has Mrs. Richards shown herself in all her power so completely as in this work. Jemima Dolly is simply a treasure, perhaps not altogether an uncommon treasure, but she is surrounded by just the right people to set her off in full colors. Earl Royal, the dumpy Sylphne, the reformed loafer, Dan Wilson, the undisciplined Rev. Lindsay, and all the rest of them are such real people that the tale wins its way into the inner consciousness, where it abides as one of the pleasantest memories.

Of course, this would not be one of Mrs. Richards' delightful stories without an abundant sauce of humor, and generous allowance of sentiment, so there are two love episodes between the first and last pages.

On Board the Mary Sands.

In this volume the admirers of Calvin and his Down East neighbors are treated to an account of what he himself describes as the " best part of my life." He says: — " We had great times Mary and me! Let alone to home here on the farm; there was the trips we made, times when I'd get restless like and smell blue water; and Mary would say, ' Let's we give the door-key to Mercy Lovely and tell Al to sleep in the stable a spell and we go off somewhere! ' and we'd go! Gorry, we had great times, — that voyage we made to Floridy aboard the Mary Sands."

Illustrated by F. T. Merrill. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25 net

Up to Calvin's.

While not necessarily a sequel to " Calvin Parks," " Up to Calvin's " chronicles the further adventures of Calvin Parks, Mittie May, Ivory Cheeseman and many of the other lovable Down East characters who proved so entertaining in the previous book. Many new and some extremely interesting ones appear.

The Wooing of Calvin Parks.

In this story, Mrs. Richards reverts to one of the happiest of her many phases of activity. With loving touch and without the suspicion of exaggeration or unkindly caricature, she acquaints us with the homely virtues, droll conceits, and pithy saws of the fast vanishing New England types. It is a book with a laugh on every page, a surprise in every chapter, and not a tear from beginning to end.

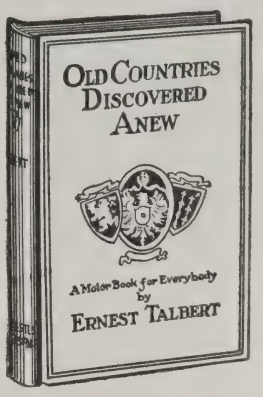
Old Countries Discovered Anew. A Motor-Book for Everybody

By Ernest Talbert.



"Old Countries Discovered Anew" comprises a chatty and interesting account of a trip by motor-car through Holland, Germany, and across France, three of the most interesting countries of all Europe.

The average person visits these countries by rail. Mr. Talbert made the trip by motor-car and consequently saw many remote sections, sections seldom, if ever, visited by the tourist; sections in which the customs, habits, and lives of the people are exact counterparts of those existing there centuries ago.

Mr. Talbert has not only given in this book an exceedingly fascinating account of a quaint and interesting trip, but he has furnished a most complete guide-book to motoring in Europe.

He gives us in detail most necessary information regarding motors, the roads to be followed, baggage to be carried, methods of securing gasoline and other necessary supplies, the hotels and inns, etc., etc., in fact, all the information that the person desirous of making a like trip could possibly need.

Miss Johnson in her interesting volume, writing about what she knows thoroughly, therefore, introduces to the reader a new and unique territory. Located within their mountain fastnesses where for hundreds of years they have defied the attempts of the various European nations to subdue and annex them, these little countries, seldom visited by tourists or travellers, preserve their unique and interesting customs and traditions.

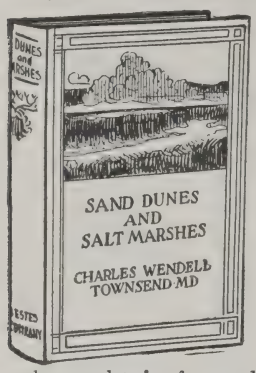
*Sand Dunes and Salt Marshes

By Dr. Charles Wendell Townsend, author of "A Labrador Spring," etc.



The book is an intimate account of sand dunes and salt marshes, and as such will appeal to all lovers of the seashore where these features are to be found.

Although written in a popular manner, abounding in charming descriptions of scenery and of bird and animal life, the book is filled with scientific facts and original observations. A brief resumé of the chapters will present some idea of the scope of the book. Chapter I gives an appreciative description of sand dunes, with an account of their varying forms and rate of growth, of the overwhelming of farms and the burying of wrecks. The snow and ice formation in winter is also described. In the next chapter the various tracks in the sand are studied, and we obtain from them intimate knowledge of the creatures, whether they be deer or foxes, crows or grasshoppers. The vegetation in the dunes is described at some length. The harbor seal is pursued at all seasons with telescope and binoculars, and is described in life and action from boyhood to old age.

In the first chapter on salt marshes, the writer revels in the artistic and poetic side of the subject, for he is a thorough salt marsh lover. He manages, however, to include scientific accuracy, and he gives a detailed description of the four zones of vegetation. Chapters on "Birds of the Salt Marshes," "The Horseshoe Crab and other Denizens of the Sand and Mud," complete the book, which is illustrated with nearly a hundred excellent half-tones from photographs.

An Introduction is contributed by Dr. W. T. Grenfell. Illustrated. Large 12mo, cloth. $2.00 net

The Morte d'Arthur

By Alfred Lord Tennyson.

Each page illuminated in colors and gold in missal style by Alberto Sangorski, and the whole reproduced in facsimile upon ivory surface paper.

One of Tennyson's most famous poems is here presented in a form and manner worthy both of the poet and his theme. Mr. Sangorski could scarcely have found a subject more congenial to the exquisite mediaevalism of his art, while his beautiful decorations are reproduced in such a manner as to make the published volume almost indistinguishable from an original manuscript.

The Sermon on the Mount.

Each page beautifully illuminated in the missal style by Alberto Sangorski, and the whole reproduced in colors and printed in facsimile on ivory paper. The Sermon on the Mount is gorgeously illuminated in the style of mediæval manuscripts and with a delicacy of coloring and elegance of adornment which only the very best of them can equal. The atmosphere of the mediæval originals has been most happily preserved, and the reproduction can hardly fail to win acceptance from all who are interested in this beautiful department of artistic craftsmanship. We know of no gift book more suitable to the young of all ages than this handsome edition of the greatest of all discourses.

Homer's Odyssey.

A new line for line translation. Translated in the Metre of the original by H. B. Cotterill, M. A. The aim of the translator has been to produce an English version of the Odyssey in a form resembling the original as closely as possible in its rapidity, directness, naturalness, and vigor — characteristics which make Homer himself so vivid and attractive.

This handsome book contains 360 pages printed in Red and Black, and twenty-four Reproductions of Drawings by Mr. Patten Wilson. These pictures are drawn with pencil and are characterized by an exquisite finish and by extreme faithfulness to the spirit of Homer.

"Mr. Cotterill reproduces the naturalness of Homer, the easy flow as of a river which is Homer's own, with as much success as any one, perhaps with more success, and his version, which is also a very faithful one with no 'pretty lying that improves to suit the modern taste,' is one which any teacher who can read aloud well would find of real service in conveying some living sense of Homer's poetry even to inattentive ears." *Woman's Club Work and Programs

By Caroline French Benton, author of "Living on a Little," "Easy Entertaining," "A Little Cook Book for a Little Girl," etc., etc.

The time has long since passed when a special field is needed for the extension of women's clubs. Actual demonstration has proven their worth to the individual and to society. Multitudes of women on farms, on remote ranches, in little villages, in great cities, have felt their impetus to a broader and more useful life. They have instructed those of little education. They have given a wider horizon to those hemmed in by circumstances. They have trained the timid to speak, and of late years, they have prepared the way for women of leisure, and influenced them to take up what is wanting, — larger housekeeping, — by working by social, civic conditions.

In this valuable little book, the author not only gives in a clear and concise manner the best means of organizing, and establishing permanently women's clubs of all sorts, but she gives full years' programs suitable for use by clubs of all sizes and in all localities.

This book is something unique and original, and should meet with a hearty reception by the individual woman as well as the club woman all over the country.

*My Boy and I. By His Mother

By Christine Terhune Herrick, author of "Like Mother Used to Make," "Sunday Night Suppers," etc., etc.

A timely and interesting book on a deeply important subject. At the present time, when Women's Clubs, Mother's Associations, etc., are so deeply interested in the problem of the home and the children, this little book, a comparatively personal narrative, by a well-known American authoress, should have a wide appeal.

The problems and perplexities that confront the average mother of sons and daughters in this complex age are enough to daunt the most painstaking and careful parent. Mrs. Herrick is too well known to need an introduction to the average American mother, and anything she has to say on a subject of this nature will assuredly be listened to with a great deal of pleasure and profit.

A careful reading of this book cannot fail to be of great assistance and value to all parents, guardians, teachers, and others who have to do with the bringing up of boys and girls. Cloth, 12mo. $1.00 net

Little Talks with Mothers of Little People.

Like Mother Used to Make.

By Christine Terhune Herrick, a daughter of Marion Harland.

Mrs. Herrick is too well-known and has written and edited too much on her own account to need the benefit of her mother's reputation, still we fancy that people of an older generation, and the young ones too, who are familiar with the recipes of Marion Harland, will be especially interested in this volume by her daughter. A partial list of its contents comprises chapters on:

Breads of Various Sorts — Easter and Christmas Dainties — Pickling and Preserving — Hot Weather Recipes — Entertaining without Service — Home Aids to Housekeeping — Uncommon Ways to Cook Common Vegetables

It is not only a cook book, but also a useful aid to housekeeping in general.

Sunday Night Suppers.

By Christine Terhune Herrick.

A valuable work on a fresh subject by a well-known writer of books on domestic science. The title explains its character and occasion. To quote from the author, "In most homes the Sunday night supper is an unsatisfactory compromise. The housekeeper, however successful in her method for other times, leaves this meal to Providence, with the usual result that awaits upon blind trust in Providence unbacked by human endeavor." That there are great possibilities in the Sunday night supper is shown most convincingly in this desirable work. A book all must have. Unique cover design, cloth, tall 12mo. $1.00 net

Les Miserables

By Victor Hugo.

Five volumes, printed on India paper, bound in full flexible leather, gilt tops, two-color title pages and photogravure frontispiece, boxed, per volume $1.00

Sold in complete sets only.

Victor Hugo occupies not only an enviable place among the really great men, but one that may be said to be entirely unique. He is at once novelist, poet, philosopher, artist, prophet, and moralist; a thinker of the highest rank, whose writings are growing in popularity, not only in his native country, but throughout the world.

"Les Miserables" is perhaps the most typical of Hugo's novels, and was published in 1862. It is a story of the 19th century, and the scene is laid principally in Paris.

Among the great passages in "Les Miserables," the most notable are the marvellous chapter devoted to the battle of Waterloo, the description of the Paris sewers, through which Jean Valjean flies with the wounded Marius, and the account of the defence of the barricade where Gavroche, the immortal street gamin, meets his death with cheerful defiance.

John Ruskin stands without a peer the most eloquent and original of all writers on nature, art and architecture in the world. His picturesque Saxon style, graphic, clear and forcible, is justly considered one of the glories of modern English literature. The works offered above are complete and authoritative. They include all the author's original notes together with a profusion of drawings, sketches and designs, many of them printed in colors.

Charles Lamb

Works of Charles Lamb, 5 vols., printed on India paper and bound in full flexible leather, gilt tops, two-color title pages and photogravure frontispieces, boxed, per volume $1.00

Sold in complete sets only.

The world justly honors the name of Charles Lamb for the rare charm of his writings, as well as for the heroism of his private life. Literature is studied with praise of the genius of this man who ranges the whole gamut of human feeling from a passion for high thought to a love for old china, prints, and places. No one can read a dozen of Lamb's letters without feeling that softening influence which leaves the reader permanently enriched. Swinburne says "the best beloved English writer will always be Charles Lamb. His claim and his charm for those who can feel them at all, are incomparable with any other man's."

OF THE WRITINGS OF

Jane Austen

The writings of Jane Austen possess qualities that place them far above those of her contemporaries except Scott. She is one of the supreme literary artists of the world, for she made no compromises, and never wrote a line to please any one but herself. That is precisely why she pleases all readers' taste and intelligence. Lord Macaulay said of her works, "There are no compositions which approach nearer to perfection. . . . In the delineation of character she approaches nearest to Shakespeare." The Cabinet Edition comprises her works and letters and an introduction by Prof. William Lyon Phelps, Ph.D., Lampson Professor of English Literature in Yale University, together with an essay by Lord Bradbourne relative to the publication of her letters. The edition is illustrated by thirty full-page drawings in color by C. E. and H. M. Brock. The works in cloth binding, gilt tops, sold in sets or separately, as follows:

British Poets. Cabinet Edition.

This is altogether the most valuable and attractive library collection of the better known British poets published. In the fairly compact compass of fifteen handsome cabinet size volumes are presented the complete authoritative text of the poetical works of the authors listed below. Valuable annotations, as well as biographical and other editorial matter from most expert sources, are included. The works are beautifully illustrated with etchings and photogravures, portraits and scenes from drawings or paintings of celebrated artists. Commentary matter includes appendix to Burns's poems and a memoir to the poet, to which is added Dr. Currie's description of Burns; a memoir to Hood and notes to his poems; a preface and notes to the works of Shelley by Mrs. Shelley, and a memoir by James Russell Lowell. In addition, the works of Keats are edited by W. T. Arnold. To the works of Gray are added a " Life by Rev. J. Mulford," with notes, etc. The " Songs of the Dramatists " is edited by Robert Bell, and contains a collection of songs from the English dramatists, beginning with the writer of the first regular comedy and ending with Sheridan. The want of such a collection has long been felt, and that it has never been supplied before, must occasion surprise to all readers who are acquainted with the riches of this branch of lyrical poetry.

OF THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

Honoré de Balzac

In 36 volumes

Balzac is universally conceded to be the greatest novelist of France if not of the world. In his "Comédie Humaine" he set out to portray contemporary French life of all classes and types, and in the accomplishment of this task was marvellously successful. His stories contain two thousand characters drawn with a realism and imaginative grasp unapproached by any other writer since Shakespeare. His analysis of motives and subtlety of insight are equalled only by the power and rush of his narrative, which has a dramatic intensity hard to match elsewhere in literature. Balzac is the master of many styles — the idyllic, impassioned, fanciful, and sententious, but he always enchains the attention and fascinates the mind. He was the amanuensis of society. Human nature seemed to put itself permanently on record through the medium of his pen. His astonishing fertility is the standing marvel of all literary workers who have come after him. Although he died as recently as 1850, he seems to be as assured a classic as Dante, Cervantes, and Goethe, — one of the eternal men. The popular demand for Balzac's works has had a tremendous impetus within a few years, and it is coming to be true that not to have read "Père Goriot," "Eugénie Grandet," and other of his masterpieces, is to write one's self down ignorant of the best in modern literature.

This edition of Balzac is a new translation into English, made with unusual charm of style and fidelity to the original. The introduction to each volume is contributed by George Saintsbury, M. A., Professor of English Literature in the University of Edinburgh, and one of the most eminent of living critics.

The publishers have confidence in announcing this edition as the most complete and the only authorized rendering of the Saintsbury Balzac. It contains four new volumes, never before included in any set of Balzac: "The Physiology of Marriage," "The Dramas" (in two volumes), and a "Repertory of the Comédie Humaine." The addition of this valuable material renders the edition without a rival.

The paper employed is a superior quality of laid, deckle edge, made especially for this edition, and the text is printed from new type with a clear open face. The title-pages are printed in two colors. The illustrations number about one hundred and fifty, and include a group of reproductions of etchings made by famous English and French artists for the first English edition, a collection of quaint old wood-cuts made by French artists during Balzac's lifetime, and giving authentic contemporary costumes, and a series of paintings and black and white sketches made expressly for this edition by some of the best American artists of to-day. The illustrations also include the best existing portrait of Balzac and the latest portrait of Professor Saintsbury.

Illustrated Cabinet Edition

OF THE WORKS OF

James Fenimore Cooper

James Fenimore Cooper may be properly called one of the great novelists. His stories are full of sustained interest and are possessed of a power which always fascinates, but his greatest strength lies in the description of scenes and narration of events.

In "Leather Stocking" Cooper added a character to the small gallery of the world's fictitious personages, — something no other American has ever done, except Mrs. Stowe; — and in Harvey Birch, the hero of "The Spy," Long Tom Coffin of "The Ariel," and Uncas and Chingachgook, the friends and supporters of the famous "Leather Stocking," he created characters of undying interest.

While Cooper was the author of many novels, he will probably be best remembered by the stories included in the two groups, the "Sea Tales" and the "Leather Stocking Tales." Of the "Sea Tales," it is said by an English critic, "The faculty with which the scenes of the waste of waters are depicted, and the living interest with which Cooper invests every part of a ship as if it were an individual being, can not be excelled and has never been equalled by any other author." It is in his "Leather Stocking Tales," however, that we find Cooper at his best. This was an altogether new field of fiction, and it was here that Cooper's unbounded imagination was given full play. Though for a time Cooper's Indians were held to be the creations of a romantic fancy, ethnologists now tell us they are far from overdrawn portraitures, and that many of the characteristics with which he invested them really belonged to these early inhabitants of our country.

In addition to the above, Cooper wrote much which dealt largely with the burning questions of the time. The three novels, "Satanstoe," "The Chainbearer," and "The Redskins," present Cooper's views concerning the anti-rent controversy which agitated seriously the State of New York, and particularly the regions of the upper Hudson, during the early '40's. "Homeward Bound" and "Home as Found" have for their main purpose the correction of certain American manners and methods. "The Monikins" also is one of the satires on certain American faults. "The Ways of the Hour" had for its special purpose the exposure of the defects of trial by jury.

This edition is without doubt one of the finest ever put on the market. It is beautifully printed on laid deckle-edge paper, handsomely and substantially bound, and is illustrated with nearly 100 full-page photogravure, etching, and steel-plate illustrations, among which are included the well-known Darley plates, and special illustrations by J. W. F. Kennedy.

Illustrated Cabinet Edition

WORKS OF

Charles Dickens

In 30 volumes

Uniform with our Illustrated Cabinet Editions of George Eliot, Victor Hugo, and W. M. Thackeray

Innumerable editions and bindings of Dickens's Works have from time to time appeared on the market, but it is a remarkable fact that none have yet appeared that in the judgment of competent critics are worthy of this great revolutionizer of English literature, or which possess the true artistic character in illustration and typography.

Confident in the belief that the times demand really fine work, the publishers have planned an edition which will from the outset create a new and widespread interest, not alone in the author's novels, but in the perfection of their presentation.

As much of Dickens's early success was due to the marvellous illustrations made by Cruikshank, Phiz, and others, which were submitted to and approved by Dickens before they were accepted (early impressions of which command enormous prices), it has been deemed of the first importance that these be used in preference to anything else. Many illustrations have since been made by talented artists, but the fact that they have never been accepted by the public as really illustrating Dickens is convincing proof that the original designs could not be improved upon. Early impressions have accordingly been obtained at great expense, and competent artists secured to reëtch them line for line. Some of the original volumes were illustrated by wood engravings, as "Barnaby Rudge," "Old Curiosity Shop," etc., and the publishers have been so fortunate as to obtain from the English publishers, Chapman & Hall, electrotypes from the original wood blocks, which have never been printed from. These, over three hundred in number, will be printed on metallic surface coated paper, and the patrons of this edition are thus guaranteed excellent impressions of the finest illustrations ever made for Dickens's works. Among the great artists whose work is included in these volumes are: CRUIKSHANK, SEYMOUR, H. K. BROWNE (Phiz), MARCUS STONE, CATTERMOLE, F. WALKER, DOYLE, LEECH, MACLISE, LANDSEER, BARNARD, AND DARLEY.

In many instances extra plates are given, which are contained in no other similar edition of the present day. By far the most attractive and most easily read Dickens ever made.

It is hard to imagine any way in which this edition could be improved. Small, handy volumes, uniform in size with the Eliot, Hugo, and Thackeray, printed by the University Press, from a type page that is simply perfection. English finish paper of the best quality, and bound in silk-ribbed cloth, gilt tops.

Illustrated Cabinet Edition

WORKS OF

Victor Hugo

In 24 volumes

Uniform in size and style with the Illustrated Cabinet Editions of George Eliot, W. M. Thackeray and Charles Dickens

Victor Hugo occupies not only an enviable place among the really great men of this century, but one that may be said to be entirely unique. His genius is brilliant and unquestioned, and his intellect bright, noble, and enlightened. He is at once novelist, poet, philosopher, artist, prophet, and moralist; a thinker of the highest rank, whose writings are growing in popularity, not only in his native country, France, but throughout the world; and at a time when the greatest works of many authors, who during his lifetime were considered his equals or superiors, are now unread ornaments on thousands of library shelves. The increasing demand for his works indicates most significantly the presence of certain qualities which commend them to the rising generation, and adapt them to the intellectual of all classes and all countries.

They appeal to the refinement of thought of the present age, and among them are found masterpieces of fiction and drama which will rank among the highest of all times and all countries. Among the novels, "Les Miserables" and "Notre Dame" are ranked as among the very greatest works of fiction ever produced in any age or country.

The illustrations will consist of etchings and photogravures by the most notable French artists, who have vied with one another to produce fitting designs to illustrate these masterpieces of modern literature. The photogravures have, in the main, been executed in Paris, by the celebrated firm of Goupil et Cie. There may be also especially mentioned etchings of many original compositions by the celebrated artist,

François Flameng, the exclusive right to which, with editions in this country, has been purchased by the publishers of this edition. In addition to these will be several portraits of the author. Among the famous artists and etchers whose work appears in this edition are Detaille, Leloir, Vibert, Perrault, Bonnat Merson, Lefevre, Frere, Hagborg, and others equally famous.

This is the only complete edition of Victor Hugo's Romances, and it contains also his celebrated Last Days of the Condemned, Things Seen, Poems, Dramas, etc.

Printed by the University Press, on the finest English-finish paper, from large, clear type, well leaded, and set in a small page. Bound in English silk-ribbed cloth, with a particularly unique and appropriate full gold back design, gilt tops, uncut edges.

WORKS OF

Captain Marryat

Uniform in size and style with our Illustrated Cabinet Editions of John Ruskin and William H. Prescott

Captain Marryat, as a novelist and story-teller, possessed a lively imagination and a keen sense of humor, as well as sound literary talent, but he is dependent on none of these qualities for the lasting success and popularity of his works. He had, besides, the advantage which no other writer except Smollet had, of having passed his life among the events and scenes he used in his tales, and readers of Marryat do not have to content themselves with description at second hand. The sailor-author himself found in his own heroic career real events and incidents enough to fill his twenty odd volumes. That he has bestowed them on fictitious personages, instead of relating them as his own, does not detract from the vivid force and reality of his descriptions. This quality constituted the chief interest in his works, and has given them a prominent place among standard works of fiction.

The times he lived in and wrote of are of exceptional interest to the lover of sea tales. Ships and sailors battled for, and controlled the destinies of the world. The man-of-warsman was in the zenith of his glory. It is no wonder that Marryat, who wielded so ready a pen, and who passed his life among such stirring scenes of tempest and battle, should be the favorite author with lovers of the sea.

In announcing an authorized edition of Marryat's works, the publishers have availed themselves of exceptional facilities, and can promise all book lovers an extraordinarily fine work.

The set is complete in twenty-four tall 12mo volumes, which is bound in cloth, gilt tops. The text of the work is printed from new plates on Dickinson all rag deckle-edge laid paper. There are about 150 illustrations in photogravure from original drawings by F. W. Hayes, A. R. C. A., W. H. Overend, E. J. Wheeler, and Frederick Barnard, printed on Royal India etching paper. Valuable and interesting introductions to the different novels are contributed by W. L. Courtney, M. A., LL. D.

The set will be the best trade edition ever published in America. The works will be sold in sets or separately as follows:

Illustrated Cabinet Edition

OF WORKS ABOUT

Napoleon

The extraordinary revival of interest in the life and times of the great Napoleon has made it possible to issue in its present form, and in a uniform style, the three greatest works ever written on the subject, Hazlitt's Life, Bourrienne's Memoirs, and Madame Junot's Memoirs, which have been acknowledged by modern historians as being the most elaborate and impartial records of Napoleon's life ever published. It is not within the scope of any one historian to view the varied sides of this wonderful career and do the subject justice. It is for this reason that no one "Life" yet written contains the necessary data to properly judge the man.

There has been no question in the minds of the publishers as to the best works to be chosen, as the present selection remains in its entirety the most complete and reliable Life of Napoleon ever issued. The "Life" written by William Hazlitt was first published in 1830, and is a clear history of the period commencing with the causes which eventually resulted in the French Revolution and ending with the death of Napoleon at St. Helena. Hazlitt occupies a front rank among the great historians of the world.

For a number of years, commencing with his school-days, Bourrienne, the close friend of Napoleon, and later his private secretary, had an opportunity to watch the events which culminated in the greatest reign of modern times, and which permitted him to give to the world a work which would never have been written but for these favoring circumstances. He does not claim to have written a work which could properly be termed a "Life," but a recital of incidents which it is necessary to read in order to properly understand the causes and results which make this epoch of French history so fascinating. He deals almost exclusively with the Cabinet, and in his narrative the reader comes in personal contact with all the great statesmen of that period.

Madame Junot, Duchess d'Abrantes, occupied a position at court from the establishment of the Consulate to the completion of Napoleon's reign. Her acquaintance with him ripened into a warm friendship and admiration for his wonderful ability; and her cheerful, happy disposition made her a great favorite. Her opportunities for studying the social side of this period were many. Her husband was a favorite general of the Empire, and under such favorable auspices she could not be other than interesting. She has not attempted to deal with the political side of this career, but confines herself exclusively to her reminiscences of facts occurring at court.

The form selected will be a tall 12mo, with large, open-spaced type and ample margins. The illustrations — over eighty in number — will consist of proofs on Royal India etching paper of etchings and photogravures, made expressly for the work, and include a portrait of every marshal, general, and statesman who took a prominent part in Napoleon's reign. Many of the great battles will be represented, and are reproduced from originals which are owned by the French Government.

Particular attention will be paid to the portraits of Napoleon; and of these there will be a large number, showing him at various stages in his life; and in each instance they are made from the original painting or engraving.

The paper used will be a fine laid deckle-edge paper.

The work will be printed at the University Press, Cambridge, from new electrotype plates set from new type.

Illustrated Cabinet Edition

OF THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

Edgar Allan Poe

The works of Poe, both verse and prose, are increasingly in demand. This author has at last taken his rightful place as the greatest imaginative genius, with one possible exception, whom America has produced.

The Cabinet Edition contains all of Poe's immortal short stories, which some hold to be the greatest ever written, as well as his complete poetical works, criticisms, and general essays. It is prefaced by a sympathetic memoir from the pen of the late Richard Henry Stoddard, occupying over 220 pages, and embellished with facsimile autographs. It contains also brief appreciations by James Russell Lowell and Nathaniel Parker Willis, as well as a remarkable critical essay by Mr. Stoddard, entitled "The Genius of Poe." Of Poe's Tales Mr. Stoddard says: "There is nothing in English literature with which the stories of Poe can be compared, and nothing in American literature, except the stories of Hawthorne." The text is printed in large, clear type, with wide margins, on a handsome laid deckle-edge paper. The edition contains nearly 40 etchings and photogravures.

WORKS OF

John Ruskin

In 26 volumes

John Ruskin stands, without a peer, the most eloquent and original of all writers on nature, art, and architecture in the world.

As a writer of beautiful English, too, his "Sesame and Lilies," "Mornings in Florence," etc., have long been recognized as masterpieces.

His picturesque Saxon style, graphic, clear, and forcible, is justly considered one of the glories of modern English literature, and, as Charlotte Bronté says, "He writes like a consecrated priest of the abstract and ideal."

The "Spectator" says (Autumn, 1884): "No other critic ever occupied such a position. He is one of the best known and most appreciated figures in our generation. His older books are among the treasures of the bibliophile, his later works are purchased like scarce plates, his opinions are quoted like texts from a holy book."

Carlyle writes to Emerson, in the last letter he ever sent to him: "No other man in England that I meet has in him the divine rage against iniquity, falsity, and baseness that Ruskin has, and that every man ought to have."

No previous edition of Ruskin has fully met the requirements of exacting book lovers; the Illustrated Cabinet Edition, we believe, will.

Printed from beautiful, clear type, well spaced with indented side notes on deckle-edge, soft laid paper, equal to the finest hand-made as far as results in printing are concerned, and producing a volume light in weight.

The full-page illustrations number 288, and include all the colored plates, steel engravings, etchings, and process cuts, in all the original tints. In addition to the full-page illustrations are the cuts in the text — many hundreds of them altogether. A large proportion of these are from drawings by Mr. Ruskin, and are not only attractive in appearance, but are absolutely necessary for a proper interpretation of the text.

The volumes are bound with flat backs and uncut edges, gilt tops, in a handsome cloth, with an especially appropriate full gold back design. Size, a tall 12mo.

The works will be sold in complete sets or separately as follows:

THE ROMANCES OF

Eugene Sue

Uniform in size and style with our Illustrated Cabinet Editions of John Ruskin and William H. Prescott

Although forty years have elapsed since the death of Eugene Sue, no fitting edition of this great author's works has ever been published; and yet he stands to-day the third member of the great triumvirate of French authors who not only did much for the literature of France, but did their share toward revolutionizing many old ideas. If choice of the three greatest French novels were made, the selection would undoubtedly consist of "Les Miserables," "The Three Musketeers," and The Mysteries of Paris, and hardly less great is The Wandering Jew.

This edition is printed on Dickinson's all rag deckle-edge laid paper, from a new set of plates set in a most artistic manner, and contains about 100 fine etchings by well-known French artists, printed on Royal India etching paper.

The volumes are bound with flat backs, gilt tops, and uncut edges, in cloth, with a handsome gold back stamp. Size, a tall 12mo.

The Waverley Novels

By SIR WALTER SCOTT

With New Introductions, Notes, and Glossaries

By ANDREW LANG

An acquaintance with the Waverley Novels is a necessity to every intelligent reader, and no library should be without a set of these works. All other writers appreciate the rational and virtuous tendencies of Scott's works, and the historical knowledge which a careful reader gleans from them is of great value. A feature of these inimitable fictions is the delineation of national character with a fidelity the most exact, and the description of scenery with a picturesqueness almost unequalled.

The publishers of this edition propose to place before the American public these romances in a more appropriate form than they have ever been offered before in either Europe or America. The text will be reprinted from the author's favorite edition, and will contain all of his introductions and notes. To these will be added new introductions, notes, and glossaries by the world-renowned critic and author, Andrew Lang, who has had the coöperation of the Hon. Mrs. Maxwell Scott, of Abbotsford, the great-granddaughter of Sir Walter Scott, in preparing this edition, and who has had access to all of the manuscript and other material now at Abbotsford, so that new points of interest may consequently be expected in this edition.

This edition will also excel all previous editions in points of artistic merit. The illustrations will consist of two hundred and fifty etchings from original designs by some of the most distinguished artists in the world, printed on Japanese paper.

Among the artists and etchers whose work will appear in this edition may be mentioned the following:

Artists.

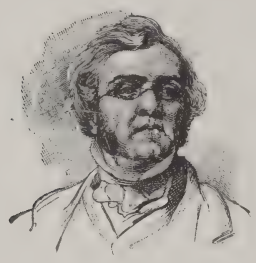
William Makepeace Thackeray

In 20 volumes



Of the many editions hitherto published in Europe and America, it is believed that none are so well adapted to the requirements of those persons who really appreciate the masterpieces of these great novelists, and wish to preserve them in an elegant and convenient library form.

This edition of THACKERAY contains all of the novels and miscellanies contained in the best standard edition, issued in England with the author's approval.

A companion set to the Illustrated Cabinet Editions of George Eliot, Victor Hugo, and Charles Dickens, printed on the finest English-finish paper, from beautiful type, well spaced and set in a small page. Press-work by the University Press.

The volumes are a small 12mo, uniform in size with the Illustrated Cabinet Edition of Eliot, and bound with handsome full gold backs in English silk ribbed cloth, gilt tops.

One of the distinguishing features of this edition is a greater variety of illustrations than has ever appeared in any edition of THACKERAY'S WORKS, consisting of 210 woodcuts, mainly from the drawings of the author, which have become as thoroughly identified with his literary works as have the drawings of Cruikshank and Phiz with those of Dickens. These will be supplemented with reproductions of drawings by the celebrated English artists, Millais, Barnard, and Luke Fildes; and to these will be added two etched portraits, a series of original etchings, drawn and etched by Pailthorpe especially for the publishers of this edition, together with the famous etchings by George Cruikshank, six photo-etchings from the Character Sketches of Frederick Barnard, and many photogravures reproduced for this edition from photographs of real scenes referred to. OF THE WORKS OF

Count L. N. Tolstoy

Translated by Leo Wiener

We take pleasure in announcing a wholly new, complete, and authentic presentation of the works of Count Tolstoy, translated entirely afresh from the original Russian (uncensored) by Leo Wiener, professor of Slavic languages and literature at Harvard University. A famous critic has recently pronounced Tolstoy the foremost living writer of to-day, and very few would care to challenge this deliberate estimate. His works have a wider circulation than those of any living author, having been printed in more than seventy different languages and dialects. A special feature of value of this edition consists in it being the work of one single individual, a feature possessed by no other version; thus securing a uniform style and method of treatment. A final volume is added to the set, containing the life of Count Tolstoy, which has been as remarkable as his writings, and is the most trustworthy and brilliant biography of the great Russian novelist in print. Correct Russian spellings have been given to the proper names, with accents to obviate the difficulty of pronunciation to English readers. This edition will contain fully seventy full-page illustrations from very rare Russian books and manuscripts, or reproductions from the most celebrated paintings of famous Russian artists, among whom may be mentioned Vasili Vereschagin, L. O. Pasternak, I. E. Ryepin, and A. Kevshenko, together with the following European artists, Edouard Detaille, A. Desnoyers, Carl Buddeus, and others. Posthumous Writings

We take pleasure in announcing that we have completed arrangements securing the rights to add to our Illustrated Cabinet Edition of Tolstoy's Works, issued during the author's life-time, his complete, authentic posthumous writings, edited and translated under the authority of the heirs. These works are comprised in four volumes, uniform in size and style with the original Cabinet Edition, and include the following writings.

Vol. 25	Father Sergius — Wisdom of Children — Fedor Kusmich — Memoirs of a Lunatic — Two Wayfarers — Khodinka — Introduction to "A Mother" — Memoirs of a Mother — Father Vasily	1	Volume	$1.50

Illustrated Cabinet Edition

OF THE WORKS OF

Alfred, Lord Tennyson

IN 12 VOLUMES.

Although the last century has been a grave of brilliant reputations, the fame of Tennyson is as secure as it was in 1842 or 1850. He belongs to the succession of the great English poets. In fact, after Chaucer, Shakespeare, Milton, and possibly Wordsworth, he stands in the opinion of not a few critics indisputably at their head. Every bookbuyer, even of the most limited means, has come to feel that it is a matter of imperative necessity to own a good set of Tennyson's Works. It is a gratification to the publishers that they can offer the finest edition of this great Victorian master which has ever been placed on the American market. This edition is edited and annotated by Prof. William J. Rolfe. It may be confidently pronounced the most beautiful edition of Tennyson's Poetical Works ever offered to the trade. It is issued in twelve volumes, with about five illustrations to each, including photogravures and etchings from paintings by Edward Lear, one of the poet's lifelong friends, and also from landscapes and figure paintings by Doré, Edwin A. Abbey, Frederick Dielman, and others. The text of the edition was collated and edited by Doctor Rolfe, with all of that scrupulous care which has made his name a synonym for accuracy, and the variorum readings and other critical memoranda are invaluable to the reader. In the prosecution of his work, the editor obtained the cordial approval and coöperation of Lord Tennyson and his family. This edition is in the most literal sense definitive. Sold only in sets, 12 volumes, cloth, 12mo, half calf or morocco.

The Phonographic Institute Loose-Leaf Tablet. This tablet possesses the following advantages, which make it the most convenient and most economic shorthand note-book for the use of shorthand writers:

1. It lies open on the table perfectly flat, there being no fold in the paper. 2. The paper is held in the cover by metal arches, strong and permanent in construction—superior to rubber elastic bands, which quickly decay, and to tapes, which are inconvenient both in turning the page and in removing a portion of the sheets. 3. The sheets can be removed and replaced quickly and easily. Any one or more of the sheets may be removed without disturbing the rest. 4. The page can be turned with perfect ease and convenience, as the polisht metal rings create no friction. 5. The triply-perforated sheets may be readily bound with tapes when removed from the tablet. In this way the notes of any single piece of work may be permanently preserved intact. 6. When notes are transcribed the tablet may be doubled back on itself and inserted in any kind of copy-holder, just as any other note-book, or it may be used itself as a copy-holder by standing it upright. 7. Perforated paper for refilling may be bought in any quantity, ruled with single or double lines, and suitable for use with pen or pencil. 8. The tablet is strongly made and will last for years.

N. B.—This tablet is especially adapted to the use of schools of shorthand. For this purpose it is provided with four guide-cards that separate the sheets into four divisions—Copying Exercises, Writing Exercises, Dictation Exercises, and Corrections. By the use of the tablet the student has his work in one compact cover and the guide-cards enable him to turn instantly to any of its divisions. When the student has finisht his school course the guide-cards may be removed and the tablet is ready for his regular daily use as a professional shorthand writer.

ISAAC PITMAN SHORTHAND

HOLDS THE WORLD'S RECORD FOR SPEED AND ACCURACY

"THERE is always room at the top," is the old and true adage. But in the ladder that leads to attainment the perspective is reversed and the rungs become farther apart as the top is reached. The poorly equipped will reach no higher than the level of their attainments, and so is it with shorthand writers and shorthand systems.

The ISAAC PITMAN SYSTEM has demonstrated its unquestionable superiority over all others by winning the PRINCIPAL HONORS in the following ten International Contests:

FIRST INTERNATIONAL SHORTHAND SPEED CONTEST, Baltimore, 1906. The Miner Gold Medal, the only trophy awarded, won by Sidney H. Godfrey.

SECOND INTERNATIONAL SHORTHAND SPEED CONTEST, Boston, 1907. Miner Gold Medal, won by Sidney H. Godfrey, and Eagan International Cup, won by Miss Nellie M. Wood.

THIRD INTERNATIONAL SHORTHAND SPEED CONTEST, Philadelphia, 1908. Eagan International Cup, won for the SECOND TIME, by Miss Nellie M. Wood.

FOURTH INTERNATIONAL CONTEST, Providence, 1909. Eagan International Cup won for the THIRD TIME AND PERMANENTLY by Miss Nellie M. Wood.

SEVENTH INTERNATIONAL CONTEST, Buffalo, 1911. Adams Accuracy Trophy won by Miss Nellie M. Wood, and Shorthand Writer Cup won by Nathan Behrin. The only trophies offered.

EIGHTH INTERNATIONAL CONTEST, New York, 1912. The Shorthand Writer Cup and Gold Medal, won for the SECOND TIME, by Nathan Behrin.

NINTH INTERNATIONAL CONTEST, Chicago, 1913. The Shorthand Writer Cup and Gold Medal, won for the THIRD TIME AND PERMANENTLY by Nathan Behrin. In this contest, Mr. Behrin established a NEW WORLD'S RECORD for ACCURACY of 98.3% in the three dictations of 200, 240 and 280 words per minute.

TENTH INTERNATIONAL CONTEST, Atlantic City, N. J., 1914. Nathan Behrin again won the HIGHEST AWARD —Gold Medal—in the 280 word per minute test, with 98.6% Accuracy.

It is worthy of note that all the trophies in the above contests have been won by Pitmanic writers.

TYPEWRITING.

Practical Course in Touch Typewriting. By CHAS. E. SMITH, Author of "Cumulative Speller." Eleventh Edition, revised and enlarged, 50c.; cloth, 75c. A Scientific Method of Mastering the Keyboard by the Sense of Touch. The design of this work is to teach touch typewriting in such a way that the student will operate by touch—will have an absolute command of every key on the keyboard, and be able to strike any key more readily without looking than would be the case with the aid of sight. A separate Chart containing Keyboard and Diagrams printed in five colors, on a heavy double-calendered cardboard, accompanies each copy. Contains specimens of actual Business Letters, Legal Forms, Specifications, Instructions for the Use of the Tabulator, etc., all printed in actual typewriter type. In ordering state whether Single or Double Keyboard or Oliver Edition is desired. Adopted by the New York, Boston and Baltimore Boards of Education.

"Touch Typewriting can be more easily and quickly acquired by going from the outside keys toward the center. It is the natural method of learning the keyboard, and prevents the beginner from being inaccurate. I recommend Mr. Charles E. Smith's 'Practical Course in Touch Typewriting' as the best Typewriter Text-Book for those who wish to become rapid, accurate touch typists."—Margaret B. Owen, the World's Champion Typist.

of doing honour to Mordecai. ESTHER, 7, 8. Haman is hanged.

vered to the hand of one of the king's most noble princes, that they may array the man withal whom the king delighteth to honour, and bring him on horseback through the street of the city, and proclaim before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delighteth to honour.

10 Then the king said to Haman, Make haste, and take the apparel and the horse, as thou hast said, and do even so to Mordecai the Jew, that sitteth at the king's gate: let nothing fail of all that thou hast quest for his life to Esther the queen; for he saw that there was evil determined against him by the king.

8 Then the king returned out of the palace garden into the place of the banquet of wine; and Haman was fallen upon the bed whereon Esther was. Then said the king, Will he force the queen also before me in the house? As the word went out of the king's mouth, they covered Haman's face.

The story of God's wrath PSALMS. against the disobedient.

4 Thou holdest mine eyes waking: I am so troubled that I cannot speak.

5 I have considered the days of old, the years of ancient times.

6 I call to remembrance my song in the night: I commune with mine own heart: and my spirit made diligent search.

7 Will the Lord cast off for ever? and will he be favourable no more?

8 Is his mercy clean gone for ever? doth his promise fail for evermore?

9 Hath God forgotten to be gracious? hath he in anger shut up his tender mercies?

9 The children of Ephraim, being armed, and carrying bows, turned back in the day of battle.

10 They kept not the covenant of God, and refused to walk in his law;

11 And forgat his works, and his wonders that he had shewed them.

12 Marvellous things did he in the sight of their fathers, in the land of Egypt, in the field of Zoan.

13 He divided the sea, and caused them to pass through; and he made the waters to stand as an heap.

Causes of offence ROMANS 14, 15 to be avoided.

Lord he doth not regard it. He that eateth, eateth to the Lord, for he giveth God thanks; and he that eateth not, to the Lord he eateth not, and giveth God thanks.
7 For none of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself.
8 For whether we live, we live unto the Lord: and whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's.
9 For to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living.

Christ healeth ST. LUKE, 7 the centurion's servant.

34 And if ye lend to them of whom ye hope to receive, what thank have ye? for sinners also lend to sinners, to receive as much again.
35 But love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil.
36 Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful.
37 Judge not, and ye shall not be judged: condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned: forgive, and ye shall be forgiven:
38 Give, and it shall be given unto you;

NOW when he had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, he entered into Capernaum.
2 And a certain centurion's servant, who was dear unto him, was sick, and ready to die.
3 And when he heard of Jesus, he sent unto him the elders of the Jews, beseeching him that he would come and heal his servant.
4 And when they came to Jesus, they besought him instantly, saying, That he was worthy for whom he should do this:
5 For he loveth our nation, and he hath

"TEACHERS' HELPS THAT ARE REAL AIDS"

CAMBRIDGE BIBLICAL ENCYCLOPEDIA

These Bibles contain the Biblical Encyclopedia, based on the Cambridge Companion to the Bible, the work of the most eminent scholars at the Cambridge University, the object of which is to provide Sunday-school teachers and other students with a concise book of reference to the Bible.

In the Encyclopedia much useful matter has been compressed into a small space and the arrangement of helps in alphabetical form will be found most convenient for the purpose of ready reference.

CAMBRIDGE CONCORDANCE

included in all Cambridge Teachers' Bibles, is most practicable and contains all important references.

CAMBRIDGE CENTRE-COLUMN REFERENCES

Have been re-edited and revised throughout and in this edition full use has been made of the late Prebendary Scrivener's invaluable work on the References which was first published in the Cambridge Paragraph Bible.

CAMBRIDGE INDIA PAPER

For whiteness, opaqueness, thinness and toughness, the new Cambridge India Paper is generally declared by experts to be the equal of, if not superior to, any thin paper now used in Bibles.

Babylonia or Shinar (Gen. 10. 10) is the alluvial country on the lower course of the Euphrates and Tigris, of which Babel or Babylon was the chief city. Assyria, or Asshur, occupied the Tigris valley to the north of Babylonia. Its centre lay on the left bank of the Tigris, where the great city of Nineveh stood, opposite Mosul. Babylon and Nineveh were long rivals, but they had a common civilisation, of which the southern alluvium was the original home. Suffering and II. CORINTHIANS 1, 2 consolation

7 And our hope of you is stedfast, knowing, that [a]as ye are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye be also of the consolation.
8 For we would not, brethren, have you ignorant of [e]our trouble which came to us in Asia, that we were pressed out of measure, above strength, insomuch that we [g]despaired even of life:
9 But we had the [1]sentence of death in ourselves, that we should not trust in ourselves, but in God [i]which raiseth the dead:
10 Who delivered us from so great a death, and doth deliver: in whom

The Christian Life Bibles

The five great themes, SIN, CHRIST, FAITH, LOVE and SALVATION, may be said to form the heart of all Bible truth. The choicest passages referring to these subjects have been brought together from all parts of the Bible, each subject in its own color (as noted below) and placed in the front of the book.

By orderly steps the reader can now follow the very language of Scripture as it first pictures SIN (scarlet) and then puts over against it CHRIST (gold) and Faith (blue) on man's part, leading to LOVE (purple) and SALVATION (green).

11 And he continued there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them.
12 ¶ And when Găl'lĭ-ō was the deputy of A-chā'-ĭa, the Jews made insurrection with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the judgment seat,
13 Saying, This fellow persuadeth men to worship God contrary to the law.
14 And when Paul was now about to open his mouth, Găl'lĭ-o said unto the Jews, If it were a matter of wrong or wicked lewdness, O ye Jews, reason would that I should bear with you

25 This man was instructed in the way of the Lord; and being fervent in the spirit, he spake and taught diligently the things of the Lord, knowing only the baptism of John.

Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven. St. Matt. v. 16.

Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven. St. Matt. vii. 21.

PICA 12mo HYMNALS

Size of page, 7⅝x4¾. Weight 20 ounces

Fight, nor think the battle long,
Soon shall victory tune your song.

3 Let not sorrow dim your eye,
Soon shall every tear be dry;
Let not fears your course impede,
Great your strength, if great your need.

4 Onward then to battle move.

Bagster and Cambridge Bibles

Are sold on their merits—not on tradition. Exclusively bound in the new "Unbreakable Back" binding, they cost no more than inferior kinds.

HOW TO SELL A BIBLE QUICKLY

OPEN a Bagster or Cambridge Bible wide—show the beautiful flat opening (no strain on the leaves). While wide open, turn the Bible over---show the perfect round of the back (no creasing or breaking)---simply state: "This is the new patent 'Unbreakable Back' Binding---we guarantee that the book will not break or crease in the back when opened and will always open flat---Bagster and Cambridge Bibles alone have this guarantee." And your sale is made.

Do not fail to show every prospective Bible customer the patent "Unbreakable Back" binding and give him the opportunity to secure a binding that will not break in the back.

You certainly owe at least this much to your customer and yourself---and incidentally to James Pott & Co., who have made retail bible selling a pleasure by this wonderful achievement.

In the binding of an ordinary Bible the back is the weakest point—in the BAGSTER and CAMBRIDGE Bibles it is the STRONGEST. The test of Superiority is by Comparison.

ARNOLD, SAMUEL GREENE

History of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, 1636-1790. New edition, 2 Vols., cloth, octavo, 574 and 600 pp. $7.50 net.

Governor Arnold's History of Rhode Island, based upon a careful study of documents in the British State Paper Office and in the Rhode Island State Archives, supplemented by investigations at Paris and the Hague, has from its publication been the authoritative history of the State.

Genealogical students will find in these volumes the names of fifteen hundred persons prominent in Rhode Island affairs. This work is of much more than local interest, as the experiment of religious liberty here tried, gives to this history an importance far beyond the narrow limits of the State.

"One of the best State histories ever written is S. G. Arnold's History of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations."

JOHN FISKE.

"The best history of Rhode Island is that of Arnold's."

PROF. GEORGE P. FISHER, Yale University.

BAILEY, W. WHITMAN, Professor of Botany, Brown University.

Among Rhode Island Wild Flowers, Cloth, 16mo., 3 plates, 50c. net.

The favorite collecting grounds are fully described, thus forming a botanical guide to Rhode Island.

In writing this volume Professor Bailey has had in mind the needs of the nature lover, and has discarded technical terms as far as possible, adapting the work to the amateur as well as the botanist.

New England Wild Flowers and their Seasons. Cloth, 16mo., 75c. net.

The characteristics of the conspicuous and dominant flowers of the months are sketched in broad lines, rendering identification easy.

The flowers of the White and Green Mountains—our alpine flora—receive separate treatment, as do also the flowers of the seashore—our coast flora.

Botanizing. A guide to field collecting and herbarium work. New revised edition. Cloth, 12mo., illustrated. $1.00 net.

"This is an honest and successsful attempt to attract amateurs to the delightful study of plants in the forests, fields and waters. The endeavor is made to show the casual as well as the expert collector, that by the employment of a few simple appliances and by the exercise of a certain amount of patience, it is possible to accumulate at small cost, a wealth of material for fascinating investigation during the winter months."—The Nation.

Botanical Note Book. A Synopsis of Lectures and Laboratory Plans in General Morphology and Systematic Botany. Cloth, 12mo., 75c. net.

Poems. Boards, 8vo., 186 pp. $1.25 net.

FIELD, EDWARD

Revolutionary Defenses in Rhode Island. An historical account of the fortifications and beacons erected during the American Revolution, with muster rolls of companies stationed along the shores of Narragansett Bay, with maps, plans and illustrations. Cloth, 8vo. $2.25 net.

Muster rolls and company lists containing the names of more than seven hundred officers and enlisted men, many of which have hitherto been inaccessible, are here printed. The work is profusely illustrated with plans and views of old earthworks, together with illustrations of the various styles of equipments used by the patriots of '76, and fac-similes of the enlistment papers of the Continental Army.

Tax List of the Town of Providence During the Administration of Sir Edward Andros and his Council, 1686-1689. Cloth, 60 pp., 8vo., Price, $1.00 net. The edition is limited to TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY numbered copies.

Among the rate bills is the list of polls for 1688, which contains the names of all males sixteen years of age and upwards living in Providence in August of that year; practically a census of the town. For the genealogist and historian this volume contains material of the greatest value on account of the great number of names which these lists contain, besides showing the amount of the tax assessment in each case.

The returns of ratable property form a study by themselves, for they tell in the quaint language of the colonist what they possess, and therefore shed much light on the conditions of the times. For a study of this episode in New England colonial history this work is invaluable.

Diary of Colonel Israel Angell of the Continental Line, with Annotations by Edward Field Explanatory of the Text, and giving the Military History of the persons mentioned. With map and two plates. Cloth, 8vo. $2.00 net.

"His diary throws some added light on important occurences, such as the evacuation of Newport and Arnold's treason; records familiar routes of travel, civil and military, in his day; affords glimpses of army discipline and of the genus patriot in the service."—The Nation.

ISHAM, NORMAN M.

The Homeric Palace. Illustrated by eleven full page plates. Cloth, 8vo., $1.00 net.

ISHAM, NORMAN M., and BROWN, ALBERT F.

Early Connecticut Houses. A historical and architectural study. Cloth, square octavo, with map, 7 plates and 115 illustrations. $5.00 net.

"There is a completeness of record, a successful attempt to tell the whole story as far as it is important it should be told, upon which it is hard to comment in terms too favorable. Each house is presented in a small carefully made drawing, mainly in outline, without the slightest attempt at artistic effect; and the more artistic on that account, as revealing the work of architectural art without the interference of the draftsman's fancies. It is clear that these little drawings (stated to have been made with the aid of photographs) and the plans and explanatory sections are as trustworthy as it is possible to make drawings of the kind."—The Nation.

SHIPMENTS

If directions for shipping do not accompany each order, goods will be sent by the cheapest method consistent with reasonable safety. Unless the contrary is specifically stated, all catalog prices are net. To these should be added the amount required for transportation.

PARCEL POST

All products listed in this catalog, if within the limits of weight and size, are mailable at Parcel Post Rates as per table. A fraction of a pound is considered a full pound. In the first and second zones the weight limit is 50 pounds, beyond the second zone, 20 pounds.

The weight and description of each article is given in the catalog. By referring to the Parcel Post Map find the zone in which the destination of the package is located, and then consult the Table of Rates to find the amount of postage required.

It is not our custom to make C. O. D. shipments by parcel post.

A parcel may be insured for an actual value not in excess of $25.00 for 5 cents in addition to the postage, or for an actual value not to exceed $50.00 for 10 cents in addition to the postage.

EXPRESS

Large parcels and parcels going long distances can usually be sent more cheaply and with greater safety by express. A receipt insuring safe delivery is given the shipper. Books can be sent by express at a Special Book Rate of 8 cents per pound, with a minimum total charge of 15 cents for any shipment, to any point reached by an express company regardless of distance.

FREIGHT

UNITED STATES: ITS COLONIES AND DEPENDENCIES. Six hundred half-tone illustrations.

Cloth, 8vo, 638 pages, wt. 52 oz. . . . . Net $2.50 K

This book is a bright, well-written treatise on the United States Colonies as viewed by a very wide-awake and well-informed traveler and student of history and commercial, industrial, and social conditions. With thoroughness Mr. Boyce discusses Alaska, the present-day and past history of the Hawaiian Islands, Porto Rico, the Philippines, Cuba, the Dominican Republic and Haiti, which, while not a United States Colony, is closely connected in a financial way. The author has an unlimited fund of happy and apropos anecdote, which lightens the pages of observation of commercial and social conditions.

Carry, Mabel D. BETTY MOORE'S JOURNAL.

Cloth, 12mo, 183 pages, wt. 12 oz. ..... Net $1.00 K

The author of Betty Moore's Journal, a well-known Chicago woman, presents a subject of the greatest social importance from the viewpoint of one whose experience lends weight to her words.

Strong, sweet, sincere, the book bears a message that should not pass unheeded. Indeed, it cannot be ignored: earnest men will think it over soberly; while women, though they may resent it, must accept it willingly or unwillingly; there must be some consideration of such questions as those suggested in sentences such as these:

"Men and women attempt to convince themselves that it is a commonplace act to create and reproduce themselves, but the truth is it always has been, is, and always will be the most wonderful expression of human life. . . .

"The woman who seeks to escape the slavery of the present-day civilization must think back to her girlhood ideals and endeavor to live them. If such women will practice the old-fashioned virtues of homemaking and child-rearing they will find there an escape from the fervid living of the American woman of the present day well-to-do class."

To amass a fund for the financing of a "Cause," a cultured foreign exile becomes the leader of a band of "sky pirates." In seemingly invincible aërial craft they are the terror of the United States. Attacks are made upon cities rich in loot; fair maidens are kidnaped. A newspaper syndicate secures the services of a famous aviator and an intrepid reporter to trace the pirates to their stronghold and there do battle with them. It is around the adventures of these two men, and around their love affairs—which certainly don't run smoothly—that the story is woven.
The author succeeds in no less degree than did Jules Verne in making the impossible seem possible. "The Pirates of the Sky" will hold a reader spellbound from first to last chapter.

"The lesson of Marie Bashkirtseff's journal may be summed up in this: It is a truthful exhibition of the passions and ambitions of not womankind alone but of mankind in general. The Marie who is thus disclosed as a bird beating its wings against the bars of a cage is not an isolated case. but a type of the struggling multitude who are fighting the battles of life in our own midst. It is something gained to know that one of the number, fired with an extraordinary resolve, beset with temptations on every hand, burdened far beyond an ordinary strength, fought fiercely for glory, and although wounded often and sore, the record of her life laid before us as an open book contains so little that may not be forgiven and so much that is good."

Lewis, James Hamilton. TWO GREAT REPUBLICS.

Cloth, wt. 18 oz.....Net $1.00 K

A careful, convincing analysis of the big movements of Roman political history with a view to discovering whether or not the rise and fall of that government teaches any lesson of value to America to-day, and whether the evils which caused the overthrow of the Roman republic have any counterpart in the problems which now confront our own country. Quite aside from the actual existence of parallel conditions in the old and the new republic, to every thoughtful American such a comparison must be of interest and of value. Mr. Lewis has brought to his interpretation an amazing historical knowledge, a just philosophical attitude, and a clearness and vigor of expression which immediately win the confidence of the reader and hold his attention to the end. An important contribution to both historical and political literature.

A beautiful edition illustrated with unusual photographs by Grace Chandler Horn. Taken from life among the Ojibwas, these pictures give us the very characters, the very scenes so beautifully sung in Longfellow's poem. Minnehaha, Hiawatha as a baby, child, and man; the beautiful woods; "the luminous water" are brought before us with lifelike vividness. The natural theater near the Canadian border, in which the play of Hiawatha is so remarkably given by full-blooded Ojibwa Indians, also is shown. From this dramatic representation the edition takes its name.

"One could hardly select a more pleasing gift book or a more fitting one for the library table on which all lovers of books want those which become beloved and familiar companions."—The Boston Budget.

Two volumes, 254+256 pages, boxed. Special cloth, library edition, wt. 58 oz. . . . . Net $2.00 K

The illustrations and decorations in this edition are of particular interest. The front cover design, by Miss Mary E. The obverse side has two horizontal panels, the upper showing cupids racing in goat chariots, the lower evolved from a Pompeian expression in black and white. The torch on this side of the cover is symbolic of the destructive force of Vesuvius. The lettering used for the title of the work is an imitation of inscriptions found at Pompeii. On the title page is a reproduction of a mosaic border, in colors, said to have been discovered in the "House of the Faun." The handsome monogravures are in large measure adapted from famous paintings.

The edition is printed from new plates in large type, on deckle-edged paper, gilt tops.

Boards, demi 12mo, 66 pages, wt. 6 oz. . . . . Net $0.50 K

This book of definite information concerning theosophy demonstrates that there is possible such development of the inner organs of perception that the soul and spirit worlds become as clear to the supersensory sight as the outer world to the physical senses. The relation of theosophy and Christianity is brought to light, for the spiritual currents of all religions are shown to meet in Christianity, constituting it the universal religion of mankind. Theosophy, by searching into the hidden consciousness, explains from its wider outlook the meaning and differences in religions, systems of philosophy, and the phenomena of existence.

Cloth, 12mo, 342 pages, 22 oz.....Net $1.00 K

The life of Christ is here given in story form, and most wonderfully has the atmosphere of His surroundings been preserved and the beauty of His character revealed. Being told from the standpoint of little playmates of Jesus, the story will make a strong appeal to children. The childhood and adult periods of the life are portrayed, but the author has refrained from picturing the agonies of the Crucifixion and the tragic events which preceded it.

Mr. Leo Thwaite, the author, seems to have made a special tour through Alberta for the purpose of collecting information for the book, and he has put together the best all around, and most up-to-date account of the province which has come under our notice. There is a great deal of solid information in the book, and a special chapter is devoted to the avenues of employment open to women. Amid the breathless excitement of rapid action, the fire of daring deeds, the love and mystery of the story, are seen the strength and earnestness of the men who opened to civilization this great land, the intensity of their desires, and their belief in what they were doing.

Weigall, Arthur E. P. B. THE TREASURY OF ANCIENT EGYPT. Inspector-General of Upper Egypt, Department of Antiquities. Author of Travels in the Upper Egyptian Deserts, The Life and Times of Akhnaton, Pharaoh of Egypt, A Guide to the Antiquities of Upper Egypt, etc. Illustrated with twenty-eight half tones from photos of ancient and modern Egyptian subjects.
Cloth, 8vo, 308 pages, wt. 26 oz.....Net $2.25 K

A book that gives the reader a glimpse into one of the most wonderful civilizations the world has ever known — a civilization with a never-dying charm, marvelous in its history, its culture, its influence.

Of Mr. Weigall's work Theodore Roosevelt says: "This is a thoroughly delightful book. It contains a dozen chapters, some of them studies of special phases of the life of the Ancient Egyptians, and others in the nature of essays on archæology in particular. The former are admirable because they combine the virtues of accuracy and charm — two qualities generally deemed mutually inconsistent by archæologists of the straight and narrow sect, who are quite ignorant of the elemental fact that no book they write can be put in the first rank unless it is both truthful and interesting.

"Mr. Weigall's book is exceedingly interesting; it is the work of a thorough scholar, not merely accurate, but truthful with the truth that comes only from insight and a broad-minded grasp of essential facts added to exhaustive study and wide learning; and it teaches certain lessons which it is of capital importance to learn and apply."

Yen Sun Ho, M.A. CHINESE EDUCATION FROM THE WESTERN VIEWPOINT.
Cloth, 16mo, wt. 6 oz.....Net $0.50 K

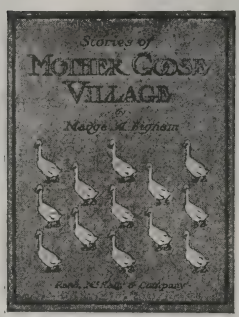
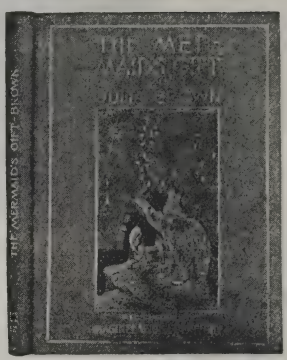
This critical survey of the development of education in China is a pioneer work in its field. It is essentially a critical comparison for the purpose of searching out the defects in China's educational system and finding a remedy in the experiences of the Western world. The book throws light on hitherto dark pages of China's intellectual progress, of greater intensity since it is given by a native observer.

In view of the prevailing interest with which the first steps of the new Chinese Republic are being regarded, and the conjectures concerning the role she is to play among the nations of the world, a study of so vital and portentous a problem will be welcomed by the general observer as well as by the student of educational theories and of economics.

JUVENILES





Bigham, Madge A. MOTHER GOOSE VILLAGE. Illustrated in colors by Ella S. Brison.

Cloth, large quarto, 196 pages, wt. 24 oz. ..... $0.75 R

It is quite possible that Mother Goose Village is not on any map, yet after reading Miss Bigham's charming account of the events that occurred there, we are ready to believe in its existence. She tells us all about "Polly Flinder's Apron," "Tommy Grace's Party," "Simple Simon's Silken Coat," "Little Miss Muffet's Valentine," and, best of all, about the "Schoolmaster's Pie."

Blumenthal, Verra Xenophontovna Kalamatiano de. FOLK TALES FROM THE RUSSIAN. Illustrated by Lucy Fitch Perkins after suggestive sketches by the author.

Cloth, 8vo, 147 pages, wt. 18 oz. ..... $0.65 R

Folk Tales from the Russian, by Verra Xenophontovna Kalamatiano de Blumenthal, a Russian countess, presents a few of the many stories which mark the beginning of Russian literature. This is probably the first collection of Russian folk tales published in the English language.

American boys and girls know their Andersen and their Grimm, and now they may share with Russian children the imaginative tales of the Slavic people. This world acquaintance, this knowledge of the classic stories of the great countries, is at the foundation of all culture.

Brown, Julia. THE ENCHANTED PEACOCK. Illustrated with four full-page pictures in color and eight black and white illustrations, together with headings and tail-pieces, in half tones, by Lucy Fitch Perkins.

Cloth, 8vo, 136 pages, wt. 22 oz. ..... $1.25 R

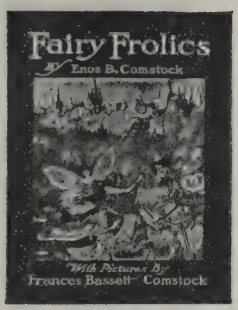
A series of rarely beautiful fairy stories emphasizing the impotence of all evil and the lasting reality and ultimate triumph of whatever is good and true. This idea is not given by any bald moralizing, but is subtly interwoven with the romance and adventure of each bewitching tale. Miss Brown is, indeed, the find in modern fairy-story writing. The tales are charmingly interpreted in Lucy Fitch Perkins's delightful illustrations.

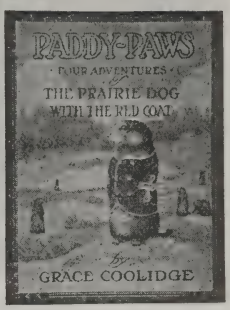
"Here are stories of enchantment touched with the old spirit of romance, yet written for children to-day. The tales are about beautiful things, told in charming prose, which, by the way, is exquisitely illustrated by Lucy Fitch Perkins."—Chicago Daily Tribune.

THE MERMAID'S GIFT. Illustrated with eight full-page color pictures by Maginel Wright Enright.

Cloth, 8vo, 168 pages, wt. 22 oz. ..... $1.25 R

Another set of six fairy tales full of charm and originality, and quite as fascinating as those in The Enchanted Peacock. The new book, like the first, has a golden thread of deep ethical meaning running through its pretty patterns of poetry and imagination.





Browning, Robert. THE PIED PIPER OF HAMELIN. Illustrated with eight full pages in color and with panel pictures, either in color or in black and white, on every text page. Cover of dark green cloth with a richly colored paster. Quarto, 56 pages, wt. 20 oz. . . . . $1.25 R

In The Pied Piper of Hamelin the story itself has always had a wonderful sort of attraction. Children liked it, men liked it, from the first day the poem appeared. Though neither mice nor children could resist the Piper, in the older editions the journey was rather sad. Now it is different. The "getting there" is wonderful. In the beautiful new edition of Browning's great child story we are given a new vision. The pictures by Hope Dunlap throw wide to the sunlight the full beauty of the story. The illustrator brings out with an exquisite art all the humorous touches; the quaint beauty and interest of the town, the time, and the people; the rich color possibilities of the situation. Further, she imparts a life and individuality to her characters, which will entrance the children.

"May Robert Browning's rhymes of Hamelin town long continue to pipe to the children's fancy! Hope Dunlap's quaint and very likable pictures are in themselves a magic commentary on the magic rhyme in this new book."—Denver News, Denver, Colo.

Fairyland itself is disclosed in this book of whimsical verse and fanciful pictures. After the first glimpse within one hesitates to close the covers for fear of crushing the gossamer gowns, and butterfly wings, and dainty flowers that riot over the pages. Not only to the true believer but to those not yet in sympathy with sprites and things faëry are the verses recommended, for every imaginative reader will appreciate the elfish charm with which they tell just where and how the fairies live, and how much fun it is to be one.

Coolidge, Grace. PADDY-PAWS. With forty illustrations in color, by Warner Carr.

Cloth, square 12mo, 80 pages, wt. 14 oz. . . . . Net $0.50 L

No child can fail to follow with keenest delight these sketches of the happenings of four days in the life of a little prairie dog. In the story there is no perilous element, no fierceness or taking of life in fields or woods. The gentler side of animal life is pictured, yet the story is full of spirit and action. The prairie dog's adventures will prove of absorbing interest for wee folk. Mr. Carr has as great mastery over his brush as the author has over the pen. The illustrations show that command of technique and that originality which, combined, hold young readers spellbound.

Dopp, Katharine Elizabeth. THE STORY OF THE EARLY SEA PEOPLE. Illustrated with a colored frontispiece and numerous pictures in black and white.

Cloth, square 12mo, wt. 20 oz.....Net $0.75 K

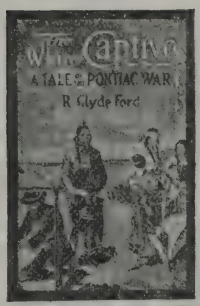
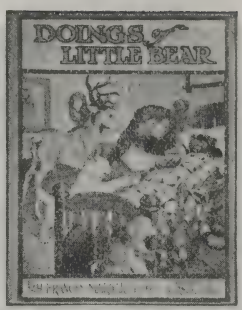
In The Story of the Early Sea People are embodied the stirring and inspiring elements of the old myths and tales of fairy princes, yet it is really a chronicle of our prehistoric ancestors based on the most authentic knowledge of them obtainable. As the title suggests, the age presented is that in which the perils and possibilities of the ocean were first tested. Vivid incidents show how an inland tribe, forced to the seacoast by oncoming foes and the need of a more bountiful food supply, gradually become adapted to a seafaring life. By accident, ingenuity, and observation, they convert the materials about them to their use, and their final conquest of the waters, when once more driven in search of a better home, forms the climax of a remarkable and fascinating book.

Elderdice, J. Raymond. THE LAST DITCH. Four illustrations by James McCracken.

Cloth, 12mo, 307 pages, wt. 22 oz.....Net $1.00 K

Carvel Hildreth, the hero of this story, leaves college under a cloud, but redeems himself by hard work on the Canal, and ultimately returns to Ballard, where he immediately regains his leadership. It is a fine, spirited, and decidedly pointed story, which will make a strong appeal to American youths. In it no less than three big ends are achieved. The first is patriotism, for a man practically without a country is born anew into intense love for the United States; second, the book presents a magnificent picture of the Canal Zone and its colossal engineering feat from the viewpoint of an earnest striver for the honor of the States in the successful accomplishment of a mighty task; third, it depicts the conversion of a careless, heedless spendthrift of time and money into the ideal of noble manhood.





Ford, R. Clyde. THE WHITE CAPTIVE: A TALE OF THE PONTIAC WAR. Four illustrations in black and white by C. L. Cole. Colored frontispiece and maps and half-tones.

In the year 1760, when Detroit was surrounded by a stockade and the Union Jack waved above it, Willy Langford, an English boy, is redeemed from Indians by Wa-boose, and enters the service of the quartermaster of the fort. Separated for years from his mother, herself a captive, the object of his life is to learn her whereabouts and secure her freedom. As factor's clerk and frontiersman, he experiences many thrilling adventures; he takes part in the Indian warfare of the day and is wounded in the Battle of Bloody Run, when Pontiac, the famous Ottawa chief, engages in his great combat with the English.

There is not the least particle of doubt that little children will love to follow the footsteps of Little Bear, get all his surprises—good and bad—and learn by his experiences what to do and what to leave undone. He was a wee, wee baby bear; his father was a big, big bear; and his mother a middle-sized bear. And they knew Goldilock's family well. The book is an ideal one for tiny children.

Ruth Gaines has discovered a fascinating land in old Mexico, and amid its tropical scenes the small reader is introduced to Lucita, or Little Light, an unspoiled, lovable child whose simple occupations and amusements lend the radiance of happy child life to the ancient palace of a queen and the dusky mills of a mountain hacienda.

Garnett, Louise Ayres. THE MUFFIN SHOP. Thirty-eight illustrations in color, with numerous panel pictures and artistic borders in colors and in black, by Hope Dunlap.

Quarto, 9x12, inches, 80 pages. Handsomely printed paper wrapper, wt. 28 oz. ..... $1.00 R

This dainty verse book recounts the delights of the Muffin Man and his Shop in Pudding Lane. By no means the least attractive feature are the illustrations by Miss Hope Dunlap. They are sure to capture the child's fancy, for the pages are alive with gay color and the designs are most artistic. The two-page color illustration of the royal coach of gold is delightfully natural and charming. The combined talent of both author and artist has added to juvenile literature another children's book which will take rank among the best published in recent years.

"It is with a rare pleasure that one looks back to the days of old and thinks of the fascinating books that he used to receive from his friends at Christmas, decorated by Kate Greenaway. When she died, it seemed as though there would never be any one to take her place. Miss Dunlap certainly comes the nearest to Kate Greenaway's work of any of those who have succeeded her. There is life in every illustration. Any child would rejoice to be the owner of this volume."—Troy Record.

THE RHYMING RING. Illustrated with eight full pages in color and numerous illustrations in color and in black, by Hope Dunlap.

Tan cloth cover, with colored paster, large quarto, 64 pages, wt. 22 oz. ..... $1.00 R

A charming little book of verses, and a happy successor to that beloved of the children—The Muffin Shop—The Rhyming Ring is instinct with that musical quality and that keen appreciation of the child's point of view which in so short a time have placed Mrs. Garnett among the favorite authors for children.

The tender child thoughts ring so true, their charms and questioning are so naturally presented, that any little listener will delight in the book, and any older person will gladly read it to the child.

In this, as in her other books of verses, one secret of Mrs. Garnett's gift of interpretation is easily revealed. She is the mother of a lovely little boy, and herself is not very far from the edge of girlhood—reason enough for that freshness of view that makes her work so attractive.

"Very charming with its lilting verses and its generous supply of pictures, is The Rhyming Ring. The book is filled with pretty child fancies of Mrs. Garnett and illustrated by the imaginative pen and brush of Hope Dunlap."—Brooklyn Eagle.

The idea of the verses, in such simple form that they can easily be committed to memory, is to instruct the child in butterfly lore, near which shrubs, flowers or trees each is likely to be found, etc. An adult can study the book to advantage and enjoy it no less than the youthful reader. The butterflies, beautified with baby faces and figures, seem to flit from page to page. To children, they will be both an inspiration and a joy.

From them she learns the beautiful lesson that every one has his own work to do in the world and that no one can do it for him. Charming illustrations help to make the book one which will become a favorite in many a nursery.

The Sunbonnet Babies promise to take a place beside Kate Greenaway's children and Palmer Cox's brownies. They have traveled from one end of the country to the other on cards or valentines, but this was the first book written about them and illustrated by Miss Corbett. Square, 12mo, 80 pages, wt. 10 oz. . . . . Net $0.50 L

The hero of this story deserves to share honors along with the Tin Soldier created by Hans Christian Andersen. To a child, he will seem very real indeed, as will also the other characters—a very smart Captain in red and blue, a dear little spotted Puppy, and a robber Mouse, against whom, of course, the Wooden Soldiers wage war. The escape of the robber Mouse forms the climax of the tale, which is told in a manner both original and delightful; in fact, just as a child's story should be told.

Cloth, 128 pages, wt. 20 oz..... Net $1.00 L

These beautiful tales reveal with wonderful distinctness Indian character and pursuits. They are exquisitely told stories, into which are woven the mysteries and superstitions of the primitive life of the Red Man, and the simplicity and sweetness, the vitality of these dwellers in God's out-of-doors breathes in every line. A delightful companion volume to this author's "Little King and Princess True."

To give an idea of the exquisite quality of this book, and why it will appeal to children here is an old Indian grandmother's idea of what a woman must be: "She must be wise and industrious as the beaver, tidy as the bird with its preened plumage, modest as the little violet, that hides among its leaves, giving her service as freely as the wild flowers give their fragrance—even to feet that tread upon them."

The vivid and unusual personality of the little girl whose "experiences" are related lends a unique flavor and a constant, active interest to such incidents as naturally occur in the life of a wide-awake child in a small town. Her vivacity and quaint philosophy are bewitching. She has discovered that stray cats have a mission in life, and what it is. She has a respect for tramps that is based on plausible reasons, and a hundred other original ideas and childishly wise theories make the book a continual surprise and a delight from cover to cover.

With the help of such kindly folk as Bumblebee, Miss Clover, Dame Owl, and Herr Frog he learns to eat strawberries and to wear an acorn hat; he builds a house of oak leaves and lights it with a firefly; for a companion he gets a pussywillow kitten and feeds it on the milk of the milkweed; in his domestic experiments and his exploring voyages he has a thoroughly enjoyable time which young readers will share in following him through the story.

Along with Stevenson and Eugene Field, Miss Kelley has the gift, rare indeed, of permeating her work with the spirit of youth. The illustrations not only express the meaning of the text, but also suggest that subtler spirit behind the words themselves.

Menefee, Maud. CHILD STORIES FROM THE MASTERS. Illustrated with reproductions in sepia of eleven famous paintings.
Cloth, 12mo, 102 pages, wt. 12 oz. . . . . Net $0.50 K

Child Stories from the Masters is artistically and mechanically one of the most attractive books of its kind for children. In an admirably simple and sympathetic manner Miss Menefee has told the stories of Browning's Pippa, of Saul and David, of Dante's Beatrice, and of Goethe's Wilhelm Meister and Mignon. Less unusual than these, perhaps, as subjects for children's stories, but not less attractive than they, are the tales from Wagner's operas, Siegfried and Parsifal, presented without any of the intricacies of the master. The stories provide children who have outgrown their gruel with reading matter full of pith and vigor and yet sufficiently easy for their comprehension.

Cloth, 12mo, 259 pages, wt. 24 oz. . . . . Net $1.00 K

Mr. Miller has tried to show the bear as he is, not the traditional bear of the story-books. Bears have one thing in common—they are never cruel. They are generally full of homely, careless kindness, and are fond of music, as well as of honey, blackberries, nuts, fish, and other delicacies of the savage feast. The author of this book has brought the distinctive features of the different bears before the reader so as to instruct as well as to interest children and children's parents in the simple realities of bear life.

Cloth, large quarto, 81 pages, wt. 28 oz. . . . . $1.00 R

Sturges, Lillian Baker. THE TOYS OF NUREMBERG. Seventy-four illustrations by the author.

Cloth, square 12mo, 80 pages, wt. 18 oz. . . . . Net $0.50 K

Told in smoothly-flowing rhyme, there is about this fanciful tale something particularly attractive and novel. The toys—the elephants, dolls, sailor-boys, rocking-horses, jumping Jacks, even the drums, trumpets, and rubber balls—deciding to run away from Nuremberg and have adventures of their own, the little ones hear them in their sleep and follow. The outcome will be breathlessly awaited by a child, the youthful imagination being fired by charming illustrations, delightfully interpretative of the author's fancies.

Warren, Maud Radford. KING ARTHUR AND HIS KNIGHTS. Illustrated by Walter J. Enright and J. Allen St. John.

Cloth, 12mo, 268 pages, wt. 22 oz. . . . . Net $1.00 K

The stories in King Arthur and His Knights have been collected from Sir Thomas Malory's Morte d'Arthur and Tennyson's Idyls of the King.

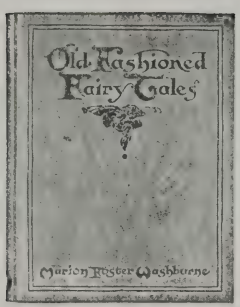
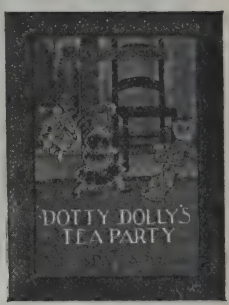
The growing interest in Anglo-Saxon mythology and the belief that American boys and girls should become familiar with the classic stories of our early literature are largely responsible for the preparation of this volume.

The King Arthur stories embody a deep and poetic message. They are of moral value to the children of this day, for they teach the best virtues of the chivalric age: gentleness to the weak, loyalty to friends, mercy to foes. The tales help to inculcate a love of truth and courage, and show the value of discipline and unselfishness.





Washburne, Marion Foster. OLD FASHIONED FAIRY TALES. Retold from the poetic version of Tom Hood. Illustrated with many artistic pictures by Margaret Ely Webb.

Cloth, 8vo, 108 pages, wt. 18 oz..... $0.75 R

Although slightly changed from the way Grandmama's Grandma related the story, "Red Riding-hood," as told here, cannot fail to charm every little reader. "Hop o' my Thumb," "Puss in Boots," and "The Sleeping Beauty" are as delightfully retold in the same volume, with extracts from Tom Hood's verses woven into the entertaining narrative.

Wheeler, Marguerite and Willard C. DOTTY DOLLY'S TEA PARTY. With twenty-eight illustrations in color by the authors.

Square 16mo, boards, 80 pages, wt. 10 oz..... Net $0.50 L

A first volume in a series which is bound to find many friends. Very young people, for whom the book is gotten up, cannot fail to enjoy the pranks of the Kewpie Dolly, the Toy Soldier and the Cat, who are among the guests at this frolicsome party. Both illustrators have long enjoyed a high reputation. Seeing a thing from a child's point of view, they succeed not only in awakening the child's interest, but in holding it when awakened.

Williston, Teresa Peirce. JAPANESE FAIRY TALES. Illustrated in five colors by Sanchi Ogawa.

Cloth, square 12mo, 74 pages, wt. 14 oz..... Net $0.75 K

Among all the beautiful books that have been published since the struggle between Russia and Japan, none, we believe, is more beautiful and more strikingly unique than Japanese Fairy Tales. Others have told of the past, the present, and the future of those most interesting little people the Japanese, but Mrs. Williston went straight to their literature and found there some of the most charming fairy tales ever told to boys and girls. She has retold the stories with all the charm, the quaintness, and the naïveté characteristic of the people of Japan.

THE WINDERMERE SERIES

The Windermere Series, a new and interesting series of books of a character both suited to the perceptions of growing children and of interest to adults who still remember the pleasure they experienced in the Brothers Grimm, Dean Swift, and Nathaniel Hawthorne.

The octavo size is admirably adapted to the display of the beautiful coloring and draftsmanship of the illustrations, and the clear, clean type pages, uniform throughout the series, add to the beauty as well as to the legibility of the books.

This list will be supplemented from time to time by similar publications of the same form at the same price. Recommended by the A. L. A. 1914.

Windermere edition, re-enforced binding, wt. 36 oz. Net $1.50 K

Concerning Milo Winter, the illustrator of this beautiful edition of a book dear to all children, the Spring number of "Poet Lore" (Boston) had this to say: "With the exception of Maxfield Parrish, Mr. Winter is quite the best American illustrator of juveniles we have. His work shows at once imagination and an ability to handle line and color that is unusual for an American; for it is in these qualities that English illustration is so far ahead of ours."

Defoe, Daniel. ROBINSON CRUSOE. Large 8vo, stamped in gold; bound in art linen with colored paster, and wrapper in three colors.

Windermere edition, re-enforced binding, wt. 38 oz. Net $1.50 K

This edition is calculated to commend itself to the oncoming generation. It would seem impossible to make a new story out of so old a classic, yet Milo Winter, through the charm of his illustrations, succeeds in doing this. For the first time the book has been adequately pictured.

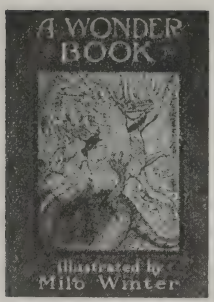
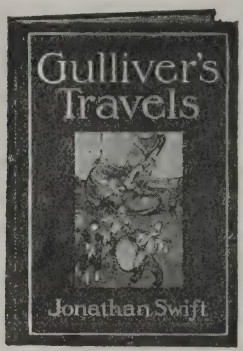
The steady demand for these old-time favorites, coupled with the general desire for books that display all the beauties of modern workmanship, has led to the publication of this particularly well-illustrated edition. It includes twelve full-page pictures in color and six in black by Hope Dunlap, done with fine imagination and technical skill, which will further endear a book already strong in the affections of readers young and old.





Hawthorne, Nathaniel. TANGLEWOOD TALES. Illustrated with ten full pages in color and six in black by Milo Winter.

Windermere edition, re-enforced binding, wt. 32 oz. . . . . Net $1.50 K

In this new edition of a favorite classic special care has been given to the illustrations. In ten full-page colored pictures and six in black, Milo Winter has preserved the classic beauty of the scenes while employing a more realistic style than has usually been used for such work. The pictures have vigor, variety, and humor, and give a vivid and convincing impression of the ancient heroes and their feats.

Windermere edition, re-enforced binding, wt. 28 oz. . . . . Net $1.50 K

A book that never fails to have a place on the shelves of all book lovers. In this new edition the work will be found in keeping with the best that modern book making has achieved. Stevenson, Robert Louis. TREASURE ISLAND. With fourteen full-page illustrations in color by Milo Winter. Large 8vo, bound in Art Linen, stamped gold and color, specially designed end papers. Wrapper in three colors.

268 pages, wt. 30 oz. . . . . Net $1.35 K

Windermere edition, re-enforced binding, wt. 34 oz. . . . . Net $1.50 K

To say the new thing about "Treasure Island" is, at this late day, impossible. In literature, it remains the crowned classic of the sheerly adventurous. It may be remarked, however, that in this edition Milo Winter outdoes all former efforts and proves himself the equal of the greatest European illustrators. His pictures are spirited interpretations of Stevenson's text and necessary accompaniments thereto. The "Windermere" books are favorites with young and old; the reason becomes clear when one considers the high standard of their titles, the quality of the colored illustrations, and their remarkably low price.

Swift, Dean. GULLIVER'S TRAVELS. Illustrated with twelve full pages in colors by Milo Winter.

Large 8vo, stamped in gold; bound in art linen with colored paster, and wrapper in three colors, wt. 34 oz. . . . . Net $1.35 K

Windermere edition, re-enforced binding, wt. 34 oz. . . . . Net $1.50 K

Particular attention is called to this edition of a book that needs neither introduction nor commendation because of the extraordinary work done by Milo Winter in illustrating the well-known scenes. With striking originality of conception and with thoroughly modern ideas as to the most effective handling of his materials, he has produced a set of pictures which alone makes the book a desirable acquisition.

POPULAR ART HANDBOOKS

Cartwright, Julia (Mrs. Ady). RAPHAEL. Illustrated with thirty-two exquisite photogravures.

Art cloth, stamped in gold, 8vo, 114 pages, wt. 22 oz. . . . . Net $1.25 K

Illustrations in polychrome of the Old Masters are not satisfactory, as the color is so different from the originals; the photogravure, reproducing as it does both softness and detail, gives the best possible idea of the picture. This volume, the first of a series which is to be the last word in books, inexpensive but of remarkable value, is devoted to Raphael and a consideration of his place in art. An illuminative analysis of his work in Urbino, Perugia, Florence, and Rome is followed by a critical estimate of the great artist as architect and decorator and by a résumé of his last years.

SANDRO BOTTICELLI. Illustrated with thirty-two exquisite photogravures.

Art Cloth, stamped in gold, 8vo, 84 pages, wt. 22 oz. . . . . Net $1.25 K

The art and personality of Botticelli have had a singular fascination for scholars and critics. The strong individuality of his conceptions, the depth and originality of his thought, his fine poetic imagination and keen sense of beauty appeal in a peculiar manner to the modern mind, and have made him as popular in the present day as he was in his own lifetime. In this volume Mrs. Ady has scored a distinct success. Through the medium of her delightful prose, while describing the artist's work, she succeeds in picturing the times when he lived and the visions that confronted him when he painted his masterpieces.

Chesterton, Gilbert K. G. F. WATTS. Illustrated with thirty-two exquisite photogravures.

Art cloth, stamped in gold, 8vo, 114 pages, wt. 22 oz. . . . . Net $1.25 K

This volume is a brilliant consideration of perhaps the most popular and certainly the most gifted of English artists. His life and work are traced in most interesting fashion and things take on new meaning when his aims and efforts are revealed through the medium of a gifted biographer such as Mr. Chesterton. The book demonstrates that the artist had equal ability in portraiture and in the conception and depiction of allegorical scenes, and the exquisite photogravures are evidence of the superiority of this method of reproduction over all others.

Gronau, Dr. Georg. LEONARDO DA VINCI. Containing thirty-two photogravures.

104 pages, wt. 22 oz. . . . . Net $1.25 K

Admirers of the creator of "Mona Lisa" will find much to please them in this succinct and thorough work on the great master's marvelous productions. Dr. Gronau, while regretting the fragmentary information regarding Leonardo, has been able to shed much light on the darkness which shrouds his life and work.

The thirty-two photogravure reproductions are masterpieces in themselves.

Hueffer, Ford Madox. HOLBEIN. Illustrated with thirty-two exquisite photogravures.

Art cloth, stamped in gold, 87 pages, wt. 22 oz.....Net $1.25 K

This brilliant monograph on Holbein, making clear the training and later accomplishments of one of the greatest of German Old Masters,will appeal to student and art lovers alike The volume plainly shows that he possessed both the artistic temperament and technical ability which made his lifework a gigantic success. Consisting in the main of portraits, for which Holbein was famous, his work is peculiarly fitted for reproduction in photogravure.

ROSSETTI. With thirty-two photogravures.

88 pages, wt. 22 oz.....Net $1.25 K

Professor Hueffer in this interesting work on Rossetti, his painting and poems, expresses many original thoughts concerning one of the most popular of the latter day painters. He grants Rossetti the tribute of genius but declines to concede that he is a master, though he says his work possesses infinite charm, the one quality that atones for the technical failure. Of Rossetti's personality he says, "He was great, magnetic, prodigal: a man who attracted men."

Bible Atlas. (Rand McNally.) The dramatic stories of the Old Testament and the beautiful narrative of the New, as here retold and illustrated by both maps and pictures, make a manual of biblical geography and history of great interest and value to students and teachers of the Bible. The well-written text is by the Rev. Jesse L. Hurlbut, D.D., author of "Studies in the Four Gospels" and "Studies in Old Testament History," with an introduction by the Rev. John H. Vincent, D.D., LL.D. There are fifty-three large, interesting views of the country, its cities, and people, while the maps alone, sixty-seven in number, make the volume desirable. These maps include a double-page colored plate of the Old Testament World, full-page colored plates of physical Palestine, the journeys of the patriarchs, the lands of the sojourning and wanderings, the conquest of Canaan, and many others explanatory of Old Testament history. INDEXED POCKET MAP SERIES

(Rand McNally)

DESCRIPTION OF THE SERIES

Characteristics. This well-known series embraces maps of the individual states of the Union, provinces of Canada and Central America, and Mexico. Each map is drawn on a large scale with all data completely and accurately entered. Contrasting colors are used to distinguish political boundaries.

Data. In the state and provincial maps counties are printed in contrasting colors, their names appearing in large, black type. In most instances the township boundaries are entered in black, together with their range and number. Mountain ranges, rivers, and lakes are very well indicated. Entire railroad systems are brought out in black lines, these lines standing out particularly well against the coloring and less important data. Electric lines are shown in red or black. Absolutely all cities, towns, postoffices, railroad stations, and villages, no matter what their size, are entered in graded type to represent their relative size and importance.

The Pocket Editions. In these editions the index accompanying each map lists alphabetically all data carried by the map, including mountains, rivers, lakes, islands, counties, cities, and towns. A ready-reference index, latest official population figures, and express, telegraph, and mail service accompany the name of each city and town.

The Vest-Pocket Editions. These editions differ from the pocket editions in that the index printed on the reverse side of each map is restricted in data; the names of the cities and towns are accompanied by the location of each on the map and their population figures.

BANKING COMMERCE ECONOMICS

A dignified, ably edited financial magazine of wide circulation among Bankers, Lawyers, Investors and Dealers in Investment Securities, in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

E. St. Elmo Lewis, the well-known advertiser and advertising writer, in his valuable work on "Financial Advertising" in the chapter on the "Trade Press," gives the following interesting results of a canvass made by the manager of the Department of New Business of one of the largest banks in America to obtain information about the banking journals of the country. The question "What financial journals do you pay a subscription price for?" was sent to a certain number of average banks in each state in the Union and brought the following replies: (Only the first thirty out of fifty-nine are here given.)

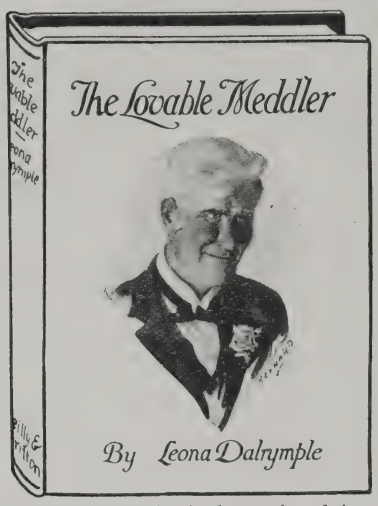
For a Long Run of Popularity



Cut of book in jacket printed in two colors

The Lovable Meddler

By Leona Dalrymple

The Book of the Year

A SECOND novel by the author of "Diane of the Green Van," and characterized by the same originality and briskness and delightful dialog; but more mature, more appealing in its heart interest and simplicity of plot. Not that there isn't surprise and suspense; the story teems with dramatic spots and unusual situations.

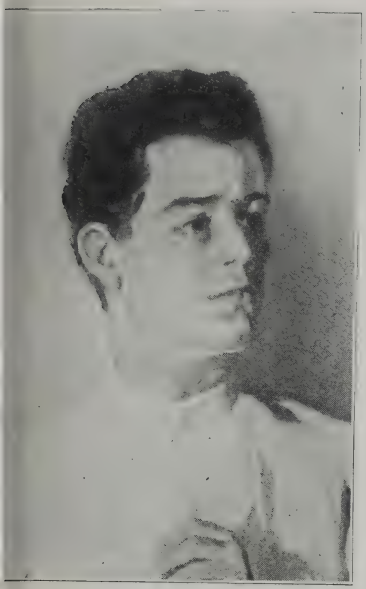
A diverting story of a lovable eccentric old Scotch doctor, a quaintly officious busybody whose matchmaking plays the mischief with a family of extremely original girls.

The book of the bright beginning, the clever plot, the happy ending. As clean and refreshing as a rain-washed June day—and as enjoyable for its sprightly joy-in-life. The deft touch, the quick imagination, the keen sense of kindly humor is apparent on every page.

A wonderfully attractive personality pervades it all. The old doctor, with all his sentimentalism, is as human as his own baggy trousers. And Leddy Rose is as provokingly lovable a heroine as ever got into a book, while the other girls—and the boys from the Doctor's "Music Box"—well, a more fascinating set of cut-ups you wouldn't want to meet. The Lovable Meddler is a story that will appeal to you from a dozen different angles; it is worth the enthusiasm you will feel for it.

Four illustrations in color from oil paintings by Grant Tyson Reynard. Portrait jacket in color. Cover in gold and blind. $1.35 net

Success Beyond Our Expectations



GUIMÓ
(Pronounced Ghee-mo')

GUIMÓ

By Walter Elwood

"No one should pass by Guimó." Chicago Daily News.

FROM every standpoint of merit and interest—plot, style, appeal, picturesqueness—the book has been commended. Expressing what the publishers think, in terms of what critics say:

A Story of Incident and Action

"It is not often that one can hail in one breath a new novelist, a well-written work and a practically virgin field. But in Guimó a writer whose name is new has achieved a real triumph.....It cannot fail to appeal to those who read a story for the story, or that lesser number who enjoy only the finished skill of the writer.....There is lack of things happening.....Guimó's life is crowded with adventure.

A Background of Romantic Reality

Only Kipling has made the Orient live more vividly.....It is written with lent knowledge, keen sympathy and with characteristic incident. A colorful orama of native life and character.

A Hero of Appealing Personality

Guimó is one of the most haunting characters of recent fiction, bright, brave, l, mendacious, faithful.....He is real, and he has a charm which comes in from the warmth of his heart and in part from the absolute naturalness his ways, as little boy and as man."

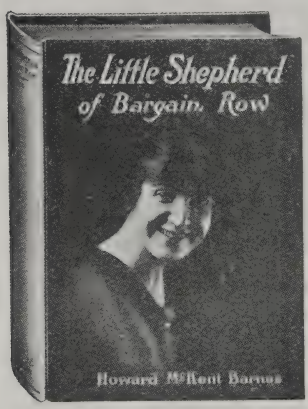
A sincere and honest piece of work, vibrant with life and color and ro- ice, and we may well wish it the success that it deserves."—The Bookman.

Standard novel size; bound in extra cloth, cover in gold. Frontispiece from remarkable painting by Grant Tyson Reynard. An interesting glossary of native terms. 344 pages. $1.35 net.

An Entertaining Piece of Light Fiction



The Little Shepherd of Bargain Row

By Howard McKent Barnes

NOT in the true sense a novelization of a play; i plot formed the basis of a comedy in whi Miss Sarah Padden is achieving a notable success, b the story is an independent piece of fiction. The su cess of the play cannot, however, fail to win reade for the book.

It has much dialog, witty and laughter-provoking. It has a heroine of distir originality and a plot that is replete with unusual situations. Nora Blake is a ne kind of "Leading Lady," as real and as captivating as her own picturesque slar A story of the "all-business" girl, who plays the game of hearts with her hea If you like a story of vivacity and brisk movement, you will enjoy "The Lit Shepherd."

A Padden picture jacket in color. 11 half-tone reproductions of scenes in the play. 12mo. $1.25 net.

"Nancy is a splendid young woman. Her story is one of the best and brightest of the year."—Baltimore Sun.

When the child begins to question the reality of the jolly old saint he needs

Santa Claus in Toyland

By CHESTER H. LAWRENCE

EVEN if the youngster doesn't believe in Saint Nick he'll certainly enjoy the merry story. And the pictures will fascinate any child.

The story concerns the terrible time in Toyland when Taffyto tipped the boiling hot candy syrup over Dinah, Santa's cook. Then Taffytoe ran away, there were no sugar plums to keep the Gnomes at work, and so there came near being no Christmas Eve visit to the stockings of good little boys and girls. It was surely exciting for a while. And then Mrs. Santa had to turn into a sugar plum — we mustn't tell why, nor how Santa finally cured her. Jack Frost got mixed up in the trouble; and the Glubwubs captured Taffytoe. What a time they did have!

But the story saves the day for dear old Santa Claus—and the Night for the youngsters.

The pictures are made by the author and they are well up to the high standard set by the interest of the story. There are 8 full-page pictures in color and 12 in black-and-white, with many smaller black-and-whites. Each chapter has a pictorial heading and tailpiece. A big, picture-filled book.

It covers the school period, as well as practically everything else an active young person engages in, in the way of recreation. It is, we believe, the most comprehensive record book on the market, besides being one of the most attractive.

SPERRY, Lyman B., M.D.

Confidential Talks with Young Women. Introduction by Dr. Mary Wood Allen. 12mo, cloth. .75

"In all the long catalogue of useful books published by Revell, I know of none more likely to do noble service than Dr. Sperry's two series of 'Confidential Talks with Young Men and Young Women.' These books treat of subjects the most delicate in an absolutely plain and fearless way, without that mischievous vagueness so often assumed by writers of such books—a prudery that aggravates by its half-suggestions whatever pruriency may be lurking in the mind of the reader."

ACCOUNTING

ACCOUNTING PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

By A. Lowes Dickinson, C.P.A., F.I.C.A., Member of Price, Waterhouse & Co. 1914. 315 pages. 5¾ x 8¼ inches. Price, prepaid: cloth, $3; half-leather, $3.50.

"Accounting Practice and Procedure" is radically different from any other accounting work. It is in no way concerned with routine or detail, but deals entirely with the more important questions of accounting—particularly those on which authorities differ.

Accountancy is taken up in this book where the ordinary work on the subject leaves it. A knowledge of accounting on the part of the reader is assumed, and this leaves the author free to throw the whole weight of his experience into an exhaustive discussion of the exceptional problem; the difficult case; the puzzling situation. In other words, the book is concerned almost entirely with those matters in which procedure is not fully settled, and here the book gives the practice of the best accountants throughout the world as Mr. Dickinson has seen it.

The book disposes of the fundamentals of bookkeeping in a single comprehensive chapter. Six chapters are given to an analysis of the balance sheet; the more puzzling points of depreciation, corporation accounting and cost keeping are given a chapter each; and the remainder of the book is devoted to the duties and liabilities of the public accountant in the more difficult phases of his work. Numerous excellent suggestions are given as to estimating future earnings, the recognition of dangerous financial conditions, formulating general plans for reorganization, etc., etc.

Mr. Dickinson is today one of the best known of practicing accountants. The present volume is the first in which his practical experience has taken book form. In its preparation he has had the almost incalculable advantage of personal notes accumulated in his active experience as a partner in one of the largest accounting firms of the world, and the work is correspondingly valuable.

APPLIED THEORY OF ACCOUNTS

By Paul-Joseph Esquerré, C.P.A., Head of the Post-Graduate School of Accountancy, New York City. 1914. 519 pages. 5¾ x 8¼ inches. Price, prepaid: cloth, $3; half-leather, $3.50.

This new book is a thorough, common-sense treatment of the underlying theory upon which all successful accounting practice is based, with illustrations showing the application of this theory in practice.

The subject is developed along strictly logical lines, with a very attractive freedom from the gaps in reasoning that are so common to the average book on accounting. The illustrations which show the application of the theory make the book particularly useful to the business man, for in them he can invariably find a counterpart of the problems with which he is confronted. For use as a text either in a class-room or for self-instruction, the book is unexcelled.*

Mr. Esquerré was for many years engaged in public practice both in this country and in Europe, and is widely known as an able and successful instructor in accounting.

COST ACCOUNTING—THEORY AND PRACTICE

By J. Lee Nicholson, C.P.A., of J. Lee Nicholson Co.; Instructor in Cost Accounting, Columbia University. Second Printing, 1915. 340 pages. 5¾ x 8½ inches. Half-leather. Price, prepaid, $4.

A volume of the Ronald Accounting Series,* intermediate between the elementary work of Moxey and the exhaustive work of Webner.

No other book will enable the accountant to get so readily a complete and thorough grasp of the basic principles of cost accounting and their application in actual work. In this book costs are resolved into their fundamental elements, and these are reassembled into four typical systems, which are the basis of every cost system, simple or complex. Each of these four systems is then taken up in detail, analyzed, explained, charted, and its application illustrated by examples.

"Cost Accounting—Theory and Practice" presupposes a general knowledge of cost accounting, and for this reason it wastes no space in general discussions. There is hardly a word in the book that has not a specific and definite meaning, and the presentation, though concise in the extreme, is very thorough.

The discussions of the examination of a plant and the devising of a cost system are new and not to be found in any other work on costs. Eighty basic forms for cost accounting work are given, and from these any form required in practice can be readily constructed.

Mr. Nicholson is one of the leading cost accountants of the United States, and "Cost Accounting—Theory and Practice" is a crystallization of his practical experience.

FACTORY COSTS

By Frank E. Webner, C.P.A. 1911. 611 pages. 6 x 9 inches. Buckram binding. Price, prepaid, $6.

"Factory Costs" is the most comprehensive reference work of cost accounting principles and practice and factory management now published. It is used in the largest manufacturing plants in the United States, and has the unqualified indorsement of the best cost accountants of the country. In its 600 pages a parallel can be found for almost any practical condition, and the experience of the best modern plants can be made use of in working out the problems of any particular system.

Mr. Webner has spent over 20 years in solving factory cost problems, is familiar with the literature of this and other countries, and, from the mass of data thus accumulated, has drawn the best ideas and developed them in this book. It is, in short, a summary of the best modern cost accounting practice.

Although a very complete discussion of cost finding principles is given, "Factory Costs" is not intended so much as a text as an exhaustive presentation of working methods. It is used by over 2,000 manufacturers and accountants in this country alone.

AUDITING—THEORY AND PRACTICE

By Robert H. Montgomery, C.P.A., of Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery; Ex-President, American Association of Public Accountants. 1912. 673 + xxix pages. 6 x 9 inches. Three-quarters leather. Price, prepaid, $5.

"Auditing—Theory and Practice" is the standard American work on auditing, presenting the most extended, detailed and practical treatment of auditing in the accounting literature of this country. Not only is it one of the most exhaustive, but it is also one of the clearest, most direct, and most thoroughly common-sense of accounting publications.

The book covers the work of the auditor from the general standpoint and also with reference to special lines of business. Both practical and theoretical requirements are given full consideration, and the special difficulties met in auditing are discussed specifically. There is hardly a page of the book which does not give some suggestion for saving time, eliminating unnecessary work, or distinguishing the vital from the incidental.

Mr. Montgomery is one of the most widely known accounting experts of the country. No accounting book has been written that is more obviously a result of long, practical experience than this; nor has any authority shown greater professional spirit in sharing the expert knowledge that such experience alone can bring. In "Auditing—Theory and Practice" Mr. Montgomery has given of his best.

ADVERTISING

ADVERTISING: THE SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC PROBLEM

By George French. 1915. 258 pages. 5½ x 8 inches. Cloth. Price, prepaid, $2.

This is a book dealing with advertising in the large—what it is and what it does—written by one of the well-known advertising men of the country for advertising men who deal with questions of importance and business men who would use advertising successfully.

It takes up the broad principles of successful advertising; how far it is scientific and how far an art; who really pays the cost; the practical importance of honesty in advertising; advertising in its relation to daily life; advertising and religion; the causes of inefficiency and the essentials of efficiency in advertising—all obviously vital considerations to be reckoned with if your advertising is to do the work for which it is designed.

"Advertising: the Social and Economic Problem" makes no attempt to go into the mechanical details of advertising, which are left to other publications. It is a work on its bigger, broader problems, and what Mr. French has learned about these is of most intense interest and practical value.

ADVERTISING—ITS PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICE

They have together worked out each step of advertising work to meet the four-fold requirements of the advertising manager, the psychologist, the copy-writer and the art critic.

"Advertising—Its Principles and Practice" contains a wonderful amount of real working information. It is just the kind of work on advertising that is needed most—a book of facts—of investigations that cost money, of actual campaigns which have succeeded and failed—written by men fully qualified by training and experience to do this important work. There are 36 chapters in the book, as follows:

Edited by HOWARD P. DUNHAM, of the Ætna Life Insurance Company. 1912. Three volumes. 1550 pages. 6 x 9 inches. Buckram, leather labels. Also half morocco, gilt titles. Price, prepaid, buckram, $10; half morocco, $12.50.

"The Business of Insurance" consists of 84 chapters, each treating of some phase of insurance, and each written by one of the highest authorities on that subject in the United States.

Insurance is so vast a business that the insurance man working in one particular field is too apt to limit his opportunities by becoming a narrow specialist. It is to give him the broad view and thorough knowledge of his business as a whole that "The Business of Insurance" has been compiled.

The work covers every branch and every phase of insurance as a business. The authors are the best-known insurance men in the United States, eminently qualified by training and experience. The book constitutes in itself a reading course in insurance that would, if purchased as a correspondence or lecture course, cost ten times its present price.

By H. G. Stockwell, C.P.A. 1912. 200 pages. 5 x 7 inches. Cloth. Price, prepaid, $1.

A book for the business man—not for the professional accountant. Every business man wants to know where his business stands from the accounting standpoint, what his assets are, what his liabilities are and what his true net worth is. All these are shown in his balance sheet, which is intelligible enough to the trained accountant but is little more to the average business man than a mass of figures. This book explains in simple terms just what the balance sheet is, how to read it, and how to use it.

EXTENDED BOND TABLES

By Charles E. Sprague, A.M., Ph.D., C.P.A., late Professor of Accounting in New York University. Fourth Edition, 1915. 233 pages. 4½ x 8 inches. Flexible leather. Price, prepaid, $6.

"Extended Bond Tables" gives the most complete and accurate bond tables published at a moderate price. They show (a) the approximate rate of income the bond will yield at a certain price, and (b) the price at which the bond will yield a certain annual income.

The tables are carried out to eight places of decimals, giving values accurate to the nearest cent on $1,000,000. While the rates of the ordinary tables vary by eighths and tenths of 1%, the present tables read direct by twentieths of 1% and, if difference tables are used, by hundredths of 1%. The tables can be used for bonds ranging as to interest from 1¼% to 10% annually and running for periods of time extending from one-half year to 100 years. By means of special tables, quarterly or annual bonds may be reduced to a semiannual income basis. The tables may also be used as annuity tables.

CONTENTS

Parts: I. Usual Rates: 2½% to 5% per annum, payable semiannually, income computed semiannually. II. Lower Rates: 1¼% to 2½% per annum, payable quarterly, income computed semiannually. III. Higher Rates: 5% to 10% per annum, payable semiannually, income computed semiannually.

GETTING THE MOST OUT OF BUSINESS

By E. St. Elmo Lewis, General Manager, Art Metal Construction Co.; formerly Adv. Manager, Burroughs Adding Machine Co. 1915. Second Edition, 483 pages. 5¾ x 8½ inches. Cloth. Price, prepaid, $2.

"In business management," says Mr. Lewis, "certain fundamental principles, skilfully applied, have invariably brought the desired results." In this book he tells what these principles are.

He shows how the great enterprises of the world and the great masters of men have consistently used these principles, and how by their application losses have been turned into gains, individuals have advanced by leaps and bounds, sales and production records have been smashed. He gets right down to the practical problems—business common-sense, executive organization, the training of salesmen, wages, advertising, successful business policies—and studies them in the light of these fundamental principles.

Here are the subjects he takes up in the book:

The Basic Principles of Successful Business—The Practical Problems to be Solved—The Scientific Way of Handling Them—How It Is Applied in Detail to Advertising, Selling, Organization and Management—How the Great Business Leaders Have Applied It—The Right Attitude and How to Get It—Loyalty to Your Plan and Purpose—The Great Secret of Organization—Individuality—The Human Element—Discipline and the Ways of Enforcing It—The Great Essential for Big Success—The New Business Day—Personal Business Efficiency.

EFFECTIVE BUSINESS LETTERS

Over 200 complete letters are presented. A much larger number of extracts are given to show proper and improper forms.

By Walter Dill Scott, Ph.D., Director of the Psychological Laboratory, Northwestern University. 1911. 168 pages. 5 x 7½ inches. Cloth. Price, prepaid, $1.

"Influencing Men in Business" shows how to gain the ability to influence men by mastering a few simple laws for influencing their minds.

The author of this book is one of the leading practical psychologists of the country. For years he has studied, experimented and tested to find the practical applications of psychology to men. In the present book he explains the mental processes by which men think and are led to act. The merchant is faced with pertinent questions and suggestions on the things that come up every day, from advertising and show-window display to business grit.
